Top Reasons to Choose Augustana:

- Study in an innovative and unique environment at one of the only liberal arts and sciences campuses in Western Canada.

- Small Class Sizes: With a student-faculty ratio of 16:1, your professors will know your name!

- Residence-Based Education: Every new student is guaranteed a space in residence.

- International Opportunities: One in three of our students take part in an international experience throughout their degree.

- Earn a highly-regarded and globally recognized University of Alberta degree.

- Build skills with hands-on learning opportunities to prepare you for the ever-changing job market.

Where Are We?

Augustana is located at the heart of Alberta in the city of Camrose—a safe and friendly community about one hour southeast of Edmonton (the provincial capital of Alberta) and about three hours east of the Rocky Mountains. Camrose is a vibrant university city; its 18,000 residents enjoy a community rich with events in support of the arts, social interests, philanthropy, and athletics. It was ranked as Canada’s 11th Best Place to Live in 2018!*

Our 40-acre campus is just a short walk from the city centre, a lively downtown core filled with unique shops, restaurants, grocery stores, banks, and medical facilities. Camrose is also the shopping hub for east central Alberta with a large retail district in the city’s west end. The campus is situated in ‘aspen parkland’ terrain, giving our students easy access to a variety of outdoor activities such as cross-country running, skiing, and cycling.

Augustana Advantage

At Augustana, we’re doing things a bit differently. As a small, residence-based liberal arts and sciences campus, we’re focused on educating the whole person, which means that you’ll leave Augustana with much more than just a University of Alberta degree.

Instead of training students for their first job, we foster well-rounded individuals who are prepared for a variety of careers, who engage with the world as flexible thinkers instead of narrow-minded experts, and who become effective members in their own communities. Our graduates not only have the ability to navigate changing workplaces, but have spent time developing passions that speak to the real world during their degree. In becoming thinkers, researchers, communicators, and collaborators who have had the opportunity to travel, work with community organizations, tackle real problems, study broadly across disciplines, and form close relationships with peers and mentors, our graduates receive a unique experience tailored to their own needs and individual futures.

Why Choose Augustana?

As a campus with a student population of just over 1,000, our size and exclusive focus on undergraduate education allow us to be exceptionally responsive to student needs and to provide our students with individual attention. In addition, we were called to action by the University of Alberta to be “strengthened as a living laboratory for teaching and learning innovation, to the benefit of the entire university” (UAlberta Strategic Plan, For the Public Good).

At Augustana, you can study in a welcoming community that takes an interest in what’s important to you while you earn a world-class degree from one of the Top 5 Universities in Canada.

You’re unique, your education should be too!
Innovations

New Calendar: 3-11

Here, our classes don’t just stay in the classrooms. We’ve created an innovative calendar, 3-11 (pronounced “three-eleven”), which is different from the traditional university schedule wherein students take two terms every year consisting of five courses each. Instead, we have designed a schedule to maximize high-impact learning opportunities, including group research projects, intense workshops, field experiences, educational travel, and applied work with community organizations and businesses.

Our Fall and Winter terms are reconfigured to begin with a 3-week block, where students only take one course and faculty only teach one course. Without competing academic obligations, students and professors spend more time together and engage in activities that do not readily fit within a traditional class structure.

The 3-week block is followed by an 11-week session, where students take three to four courses instead of five, a more reasonable workload that reduces the normal stresses of university life. The calendar also allows for other high-impact practices for every student new to Augustana: a Project-Based Core, and First Year Seminars.

Project-Based Core

In addition to the calendar, Augustana has developed innovations that further students’ ability to work in teams throughout their degree, including a project-based core. By implementing project-based learning, where students work together to tackle real-world issues, we are preparing our graduates for the constantly changing workplaces of the future. Students at Augustana are encouraged to be creative thinkers and to collaborate across a wide spectrum of disciplines. Completing projects on real issues, or what we have termed “wicked problems”, in partnership with community organizations, helps students to develop skills not just as academics but as valuable employees and citizens.

First Year Seminars

What do zombies, dinosaurs, and Harry Potter have in common? They are all First Year Seminar topics that students new to Augustana can choose from for the Fall 3-week block as part of their Project-Based Core. While the seminar topics will vary, the goal of these courses are the same: introducing students to university-level learning by guiding them to critically engage with multiple perspectives. During their First Year Seminar, students are building the skills and confidence they need to succeed throughout their entire degree within the first three weeks of university. Our seminars are limited to 25 students each. Students, therefore, engage deeply with course content and create close relationships with their professors and classmates.
New Majors

The core is meant to encourage broad study across several disciplines. Instead of training our students for one specific job, we offer them the means to explore various subjects and build on the skills employers are looking for that span wide-ranging markets and vocations. Essentially, we encourage them to develop the skill sets that are sought by employers both now and well into the future, regardless of the ever-changing work environment. Along with completing project-based learning, our students have the option to study within thematically linked multidisciplinary majors, such as:

Law, Crime, and Justice Studies
This major explores the relationship between law, politics and society, and between individuals and the government. Students can explore the role of crime in society, criminal behaviour, the historical evolution of the law, and the ways in which law and crime are connected to issues of social justice and inequality. This major provides an excellent foundation for law school, careers in the criminal justice system, social work, and work with government and non-profit organizations.

Creativity and Culture
These days, literacy isn’t just about reading words on a page. We deal with various types of media on a daily basis, and preparing for the future involves learning to analyze and also work within the complex media environments that make up our world. Students in this major will develop the skills required to engage with our ever-changing world by studying literature, cultural studies, art, language, music, and/or drama. Those looking to use their imagination and creativity to read, write, draw, and perform, and then hone those skills, are a perfect fit for this major. Graduates will be well prepared for a broad range of careers in art and design, communications, library and information science, law, journalism, marketing, publishing, entrepreneurship, and more.

Ethics and Global Studies
Students interested in travel, cross-cultural experiences, social justice, and tackling world issues are a perfect fit for this major, which blends courses from philosophy, history, politics, and religious studies. Students will learn how to have a voice, connecting past and present in order to bring a global perspective to their projects and to employment following graduation. This major is ideal for those who are interested in public affairs, government, NGOs, international policy, or civil service.

Students can obtain a Bachelor of Arts degree in the above multidisciplinary majors, but can still take courses outside of the disciplines that their multidisciplinary major focuses on.

SO MANY WAYS TO GET INVOLVED!

Augustana Students’ Association: The student body voice on campus hosts events throughout the year and manages Augustana’s student clubs.

Augustana Student Clubs: academic clubs in science and psychology; athletic clubs; international clubs such as the East-Asian and Afri-Youth club; language clubs; The Management Society; Augustana Queers and Allies, and more. If you don’t see a club you want, start one!

Campus Chaplaincy: The chaplaincy community provides opportunities for worship, learning, community building, pastoral care, and multi-faith service.

Choirs: At Augustana, we offer both audition and non-audition choirs.

Leadership Opportunities: Augustana focuses on building future leaders through in-class instruction and extracurricular options such as student government, resident assistants, the Campus Visits program, Chaplaincy, and student clubs.

Theatre: Full-length and one-act plays, plus an improv troupe. Any student can audition for any of our drama productions.

International Travel: Explore exceptional opportunities to learn about other cultures, refine language skills, test classroom theories, perform practical research, and experience a new part of the globe. Nearly a third of Augustana students have studied in places such as China, Costa Rica, Cuba, Germany, Norway, India, New York City, and Italy!

Undergraduate Research: You will have the opportunity to partner with your professors to conduct research, both for presentation and publication! On larger campuses, research is primarily conducted by master’s and PhD students. Undergraduate research is a great opportunity for students to gain experience before undertaking a master’s degree or starting a professional program.

STUDENT SERVICES

At Augustana, we pride ourselves on offering a wide variety of services to our students. For example, we provide Student Success and Accessibility Resources to students that may require additional support with their education and a Writing Centre that is devoted to helping students improve their writing skills. Other services include an Indigenous Student Services Office, international student support, personal counselling, and academic advising. For convenience, many services are located in our newly designed Learning Commons.

RESIDENCE: WELCOME HOME

At Augustana, we guarantee space in residence to all first year students that apply before August 1st: we believe in the value of this once in a lifetime experience. Learning and growing through your daily encounters with other students focuses on the development of the whole person, which is an essential part of the education that Augustana offers.

We have a great team of professional and student staff that take the time to get to know you and learn how they can help you settle into your new home.

As a part of this community and campus life, you will have access to resources for academic, social, and personal support. Starting in Fall 2019, our residence fees will include an Augustana Fitness Centre pass—a great way to stay in shape and work away stress!

“Having my friends next door was great! I could walk over if I needed anything or if I just wanted company. I’ve made so many unforgettable memories and, most of all, the residence environment made me feel safe both physically and emotionally.”

Novie Bordey [Hay River, AB]
Third Year Student

STUDENT MEAL PLAN

No need to worry about grocery shopping, cooking, or even doing dishes! Included in your residence fee is an “all you can eat” meal plan and access to unlimited chocolate milk!

In addition to three healthy meals per day, snacks, and lighter meal options are available between meals and into the evening. We source many of our ingredients locally and accommodate special diet plans.
INDIGENOUS STUDENT SERVICES

The University of Alberta respectfully recognizes its location within Treaty 6 territory and the Métis homeland. Augustana has an active and inclusive Indigenous community that would love to welcome you to campus! Our Indigenous Student Services provides culturally appropriate support for students from First Nations, Métis, and Inuit backgrounds, including our Indigenous Peer Mentor program, academic supports, cultural programming, and a range of opportunities to gather socially throughout the year. The Wahkohtowin Lodge is home to the Indigenous Students’ Community Space and an Elders’ Room, offering space for students to gather with each other, Elders, and other members of our Indigenous community on campus.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

English Language Proficiency (ELP): As English is the primary language of instruction at Augustana Campus, all students are required to meet our ELP requirement. For more information please visit aug.ualberta.ca/ELP

BRIDGING PROGRAM

If you meet Augustana’s academic entrance requirements but do not meet the ELP requirement, you may be a candidate for the Bridging Program offered at the North Campus in Edmonton. This program will allow you to improve your English language skills in order to be admitted into one of our degree programs. Read about the Bridging Program at aug.ualberta.ca/BP

COPLAC

Augustana is the only Canadian member of the 29-institution Council of Public Liberal Arts Colleges (COPLAC). Our partnership allows for exclusive cooperative course offerings and study opportunities across North America.

On average, graduates of the Liberal Arts & Sciences will earn more than graduates of professional programs over the course of their careers.
