Juries:

All University Applied Music Program (UAMP) students who are taking lessons for credit are expected to perform at juries. A jury is a solo performance for a panel of musicians/instructors which serves as part of the evaluation of your progress in your private music studies. Generally, first year students are only expected to perform a jury at the end of academic year (in April). Returning students must usually perform a jury in December as well. [You may be exempted from a jury at the discretion of your instructor in exceptional circumstances.]

Juries generally take place between the last day of classes and the first day of exams in any given term. Check with the Fine Arts Office for specific dates and times in any given year. The UAMP will pay for jury and master class accompanists twice during the year.
