Beaver First Nation

The Beaver First Nation is a northern Alberta Treaty 8 Nation, made up of members of the Danezaa people, also known as the Beavers. Beaver First Nation is the only two Danezaa bands in Alberta (the other being the Horse Lake First Nation). The band controls two reserves, Boyer 164 and Child Lake 164A, both near Fort Vermillion in beautiful northern Peace Country. Beaver has a small registered population of approximately 900 community members, many of whom live away from the community.

Project: Lands and Consultation Internship (Undergraduate)

Beaver First Nation has a large consultative territory in Northern Alberta. The Nation is often involved in negotiations with companies involved in Forestry and Oil and Gas projects in the region.

Beaver First Nation requires an individual to support their consultative processes, and to assist in researching and mapping historical and cultural use of lands both on the reserve and within the consultative territory of the Nation.

The ideal Candidate will have a background in environmental science/monitoring or a similar specialty. Experience working with GPS and mapping software would be a great benefit. Candidates with an interest in forestry may be able to do some additional fieldwork.

Interns will be expected to complete research as required by the Lands and Consultation team as well as assist in any mapping, or community engagement projects that may arise over the course of the summer. The intern will attend meetings between chief and council and industry and support consultation with the wider Beaver First Nation community.

To apply please follow the instructions at the link below

Engage North Lands and Consultation 2017 Internship

Dene Tha' First Nation

Dene Tha’ is an Albertan Treaty 8 First Nation with populations centered in three communities: Bushe River, Meander River, and Chateh. Located are north in the beautiful Alberta North Peace region, it is a member of the North Peace Tribal Council. Community members speak English and Dene, the latter of which includes the South Slavey language. Dene Tha’ First Nation facilities include First Nation office and public works buildings in Chateh, public works buildings and Four Chiefs Complex in Bushe River, and First Nation office and public works buildings in Meander River. Dene Tha’ First Nation economic activities include a gas station, various stores (hardware, crafts, fur purchasing), a post office, a bottle depot, Dene Tha’ Construction, natural gas distribution, and more.

Project: Projects to be posted soon (Undergraduate Internship)
Project: Project to be posted soon (Undergraduate Fellowship)

Lars K. Hallstrom, PhD
Director, Alberta Centre for Sustainable Rural Communities
Professor, Political Studies (Augustana Faculty) and REES (ALES)
University of Alberta, Alberta, Canada
Email: lars.hallstrom@ualberta.ca
Tel: (780) 679-1672
Website: http://www.augustana.ualberta.ca/research/centres/acsrc/