life at Augustana

“ I went on to obtain a B.Ed [and will] have the knowledge I need to be a confident Social Studies teacher. The study of History is fascinating, complex, highly engaging and it allows one to gain perspective on the world we live in. My time at Augustana left me with a love of History that will last a lifetime.”
—Jaclyn Reaves Jacobsen, (B.A., History, 2000)

Why Augustana?

Augustana Campus, University of Alberta provides an excellent environment in which to prepare for a professional career or graduate studies. Dedicated to the pursuit of the liberal arts and sciences, Augustana offers an education in which the acquisition of advanced academic knowledge is coupled with the skills required for success in professional life: critical thinking, clear writing and confident presentations. Augustana's small class sizes provide more interaction with the professor and enable more student-led learning.

Augustana's small city setting and excellent residence life program also encourage participation in community service and provide an opportunity for students to develop skills in service and leadership.

What is History?

History is one of the oldest and most respected components of a liberal arts education. The student of history acquires a basic understanding of the natural and social sciences, as well as the history of mathematical thought, philosophy, religion, languages, literature, music, and art, to list a few of the areas studied. Few other fields of study provide such a breadth of knowledge and information.

History at Augustana

Augustana offers history students a four-year Bachelor of Arts degree. In fulfilling the requirements, you will encounter a broad selection of liberal arts and science courses, as well as a strong emphasis on the study of Canadian, American, and European history from a variety of perspectives.

Admission Requirements

For admission from high school, an average of 70% is required in Grade 12 academic English and 4 other Grade 12 subjects.

Career Opportunities

As a history graduate, you will have many career opportunities. You may decide to pursue further education in graduate studies or you may opt to pursue a career in teaching.

History traditionally has been a sound springboard to law school. Law courses presuppose a certain knowledge of the past. Lawyers need to be effective researchers, organizers, writers and speakers.

Other opportunities include journalism and careers with museums, archives and libraries. The worlds of government and foreign service seek out history majors, particularly those whose preparation includes a language or two.

Increasingly, major banks and globally-based corporations seek out graduates who combine historical comprehension with foreign language and research skills. Historians have a well-founded reputation for competent research, understanding of global cultures and an ability to speak and write effectively.
