5. The Quality of Graduate Student and Post-Doctoral Supervision at the University of Alberta.

Members had before them a report entitled The Quality of Graduate Student and Post-Doctoral Supervision at the University of Alberta, which had been previously distributed on 02 May, 2014. N Andrews introduced the item and the guest, Dr. Naomi Krogman (Provost’s Fellow and Professor, Department of Resource Economics and Environmental Sociology).

In his introduction of N Krogman, N Andrews stated that examining the quality of graduate supervision started three years ago, it was a key component of the 2011-2012 GSA Strategic Work Plan. The GSA requested a Provost’s Fellow to conduct research and produce a report. The current report overall captures the issues that have been brought to the GSA over the years about supervision.

N Krogman the spoke about the report and raised the following points:

The GSA was instrumental in putting the report together. Three Directly-Elected Officers were involved in the advisory group that N Krogman met with to discuss progress during her investigation and write-up. The report has been presented twice to the Vice-Provost’s Council (October 2013 and January 2014), and to the GFC Committee on the Learning Environment. The next steps were to present to FGSR on May 21, 2014, and then to meet with the Dean’s Council and the Chairs Executive Council. N Krogman will also present written comments on these presentations to the Provost, and will include feedback provided at GSA Council in those comments; the comments will also be shared with the GSA as it works to create an action plan for implementation of the report’s recommendations. The report begins by describing how supervision has changed over the last 30 years. It describes how the number of graduate students has tripled, there are far more international students than ever before (34% of all graduate students and 50% of PhD students at the U of A are international). The context has also changed; instead of professors being fountains of knowledge, they are now co-learners with their graduate students, who use new and different methodologies and dissemination techniques and introduce them to their supervisors. The whole relationship between graduate students and supervisors is shifting, and there are different orientations to supervision that are dependent on the supervisor’s age. There are also many more people trying to earn graduate degrees, which is in part due to the economic downturn. Graduate student profiles are also changing; many graduate students work, have children, and are older than they were before.

N Krogman then discussed the recommendations contained in the report. The first relates to providing earlier guidance to students to improve student success. Literature on supervision indicates that if supervisors and graduate students are aware of mutual expectations early, they are less likely to face conflict later on. The report provides discussion points for supervisors and graduate students and suggests that they write up their agreed-upon expectations. The report also recommends that graduate students receive guidance earlier. There is a lot of variation in how students are selected for a program, and they might not be good predictors for graduate student success. This is important because the time to completion is increasing, as are attrition rates, and communication early on can both manage expectations and give graduate students an opportunity to evaluate if they want to continue in the program. Feedback in this respect should be standardized, after year one for Masters students and after year two for PhD students. Some students drop out much later in their program, but in hindsight would have done it sooner if they had evaluated it properly. Structured feedback may give them a chance to contemplate what it will take to finish and if they want to do that.

Prepared by M. Caldwell and C. Thomas for the Council Meeting of May 12, 2014

The report then recommends increased accountability of supervisors and departments for good supervision to address hidden weaknesses. Department Chairs should conduct exit interviews after a student defends, and again a year later to see if perspective changes. Fewer than 30% of PhDs will get an academic position and there should be truth in advertising about that. The U of A is developing Professional Development modules to help graduate students gain skills and exposure to different training and learning opportunities. N Krogman has been told that she is biased towards students. Exit interviews were also recommended as important. Faculty see it as intimidating to have the students talk about supervision without the supervisor there, but this is the student’s chance to talk about it. The feedback could be used in annual evaluations, or in a longitudinal assessment of strengths and weaknesses of supervision within an entire department. In N Krogman’s department, the Chair asks about the progress of each of her graduate students. There needs to be a reward or evaluation system for the qualitative assessment of mentorship, not just the credit received for how many students finish, how much a supervisor publishes with them. There also needs to be a process for how to deal with professors who have a poor track record with graduate students, when there are repeated complaints, lots of students dropping out or switching advisors, or taking a long time to finish. Some universities tell these professors to take a hiatus from supervision, and to create a plan to address issues with their supervision style. Some departments at the U of A have done this, but there is no process for it. At some universities, professors are not allowed to supervise until they have co-supervised for a number of years, or until they get tenure. Other universities require a mentorship/ supervisory philosophy for when a professor goes for tenure or promotion. This could be posted on a website for potential students to read.

The third recommendation is to provide training and mentorship to supervisors to raise standards of supervision and mentorship. Expectations about supervision should be instilled at the start of a professor’s career, and training should be provided as they progress in their career. A big issue is scaffolding - graduate students at different levels need different kinds of supervision, but there is little or no training about how it is done differently. Graduate coordinators should also receive training and support. They are critical for mitigating conflict and solving problems, but they have responsibility without any authority. They also face issues such as not having the support of their department chair, and having to continue to work with colleagues after issues are raised. There should also be more recognition for good supervision: for professors, for post-doctoral fellows, and for graduate students who might be supervising undergraduates. The U of A needs to create a culture of mentorship across these different roles.

The fourth recommendation regards providing various forms of guidance and mentorship to students to improve the culture of mentorship. There are various forms of mentorship already available across the U of A: FGSR, CAPS, and Community Services Learning are just some of the opportunities available, but supervisors might not know these things are available or might not be telling their students about them. There are lots of ways of mentoring, and students should know about these different opportunities.

Recommendation five is to integrate post-doctoral (PD) trainees into department culture; provide more training on PD scholar supervision, and more PD scholar professional development training opportunities. PD fellows need to be better integrated into department culture. Although some are well integrated because they are funded through labs or projects, others come in with independent funding, are given an office and a titular supervisor, but then mostly left on their own. A problem is that the Post-Doctoral Fellows Association does not have enough funding or structure to provide services. In Australia, post-doctoral fellows are more thoroughly integrated into departments, they can apply for research funding, vote on departmental councils, and are given teaching opportunities. The U of A should move in this direction so the experience is more meaningful. Supervisors also need training on what it means to supervise a post-doctoral fellow, and they should also establish expectations at the beginning so they have a roadmap for a productive relationship.

Following the presentation, there were a number of questions: S Fenichal asked if the report could be shared with other students in her department and N Krogman replied that she has just released a final version and that students are welcome to share that version. S Fenichal then asked about the word ‘review’ in the first recommendation. She is concerned that it could become very formal and become another stressful stage of the graduate school process. N Krogman replied that she envisions it as more of a discussion about where a graduate student is at, what their topic will be, how their coursework went, and what experiences they hope to gain during the course of the degree. It is a moment at which to evaluate aspects of the degree program, what the work looks like, and if the student still feels they want to do it. It is not meant to be an interrogation of the graduate student’s progress, but more about the fit of the program for the graduate student, since a lot of people do not have those discussions early enough. S Fenichal asked if it is meant to be more of a regular ongoing discussion, rather than more pointed at specific times. Her department is trending towards more formalized and summative forms of assessment, and this could potentially be a checklist of boxes rather than communication. N Krogman replied that the intent is to provide the time to evaluate a student’s progress, look at their coursework, if they still do not have a topic after year two, the professor or department can say it is unusual and ask the student to think about it and consider if the program is right for them. The literature says the more evaluation you conduct, the more it biases behaviour to metrics, and can move it away from actual meaning, and that is not the intent with this recommendation.

M Bajaj asked which recommendations will be achievable in the next year, considering the U of A’s budget constraints and the stress this has put on supervisors. N Krogman replied that she is hesitant to put a timeframe to anything because other bodies have to implement the recommendations. There are departmental, graduate coordinator, and supervisor level recommendations. Department Chairs now have formalized training and this is probably a good place to start. Another good place to start would be training new professors as they begin at the U of A. More Professional Development should be available soon as well. The recommendations really need to be taken up by Deans and Chairs, so N Krogman’s upcoming meetings will be instrumental in determining how long implementation might take, depending on if they are receptive to the recommendations. None of the recommendations cost a lot of money, so lack of resources should not be an issue; the larger factor is cultural commitment to change.

N Andrews raised two points about the report. First, regarding the exit interviews, graduate students still have a connection to their advisors after they complete their degree because they need recommendation letters. It might be obvious who is providing certain feedback and it could strain that relationship. Second, with discussion ongoing around FGSR or graduate studies reform, it is not clear what role FGSR will have in the future and this could impact the implementation of certain recommendations because of the role FGSR might play in them. N Krogman responded that, for the first point, one option is to have them made anonymously to the department chair by having a designate conduct them. The department chair could then use a summary of interviews over time, so it is harder to pin point to a particular supervisor or particular graduate student. Doing the interviews a year later could help it be less obvious who the person is, but would require a system to track students after they graduate. For the second point, N Krogman expressed her understanding that FGSR may become a training and facilitation organization, rather than an administrative body and her sense was that the recommendations around training could still be fulfilled through FGSR.

N Mehta stated that a lot of the recommendations are already in the FGSR handbook, but the implementation of them is left to the departments, who do not change something that is working until someone makes them. Some of the things that are suggested for review in year one may not mean anything to your supervisor (eg in his department students often do not have their topic until their third year, but still complete on time). His department already does an annual evaluation about how students are feeling, but most students do not answer the question about the supervisor. N Krogman asked about anonymity and N Mehta replied that even when it is anonymous it is not anonymous. For a supervisor with four graduate students, it is very easy to pinpoint which student you are not getting along with. The report is good but it is nothing without implementation; N Mehta is jaded and cynical about reports like this. N Krogman replied that change can take awhile; suggestions and criticisms are repeated, but eventually it percolates and there is a moment at which change occurs. Supervision change is a growing movement, and the fact that the Provost assigned someone to address it should help. N Mehta replied that supervisors in his department bring in too much money for the department Chair to address any issue with their supervision. N Krogman responded that she can convey to department Chairs that professors who bring in lots of research funding are not seen as being as accountable for their behaviour.

M Bal stated that the supervisory relationship is also often an employment relationship, and the report mentions training supervisors for compliance with the Collective Agreement. M Bal asked if N Krogman could highlight the importance of CA compliance when presenting her report. N Krogman replied that she does not think that CA compliance is the biggest issue regarding supervision, but that she knows the GSA does get complaints. She will encourage departmental Chairs to have faculty and staff read the summary sheets on the CA, because it is a big problem since a lot of faculty are not aware of the Collective Agreement until they are caught breaking it. It is something that should be addressed, especially as funding dwindle and there might be more compliance issues. M Bal responded that N Krogman had mentioned in an earlier meeting that more administrative work is being downloaded to professors and they will end up doing a lot of things for students that administration staff are doing now. The problems will continue to grow and because there is already no consistency with CA compliance, the problems will get bigger. N Krogman replied that she believes that professors should have to take a mandatory test on the contents of the CA, but that universities are a hard place to tell people what to do because of the concept of academic freedom. There should be more structured expectations around knowing the CA, but she does not know how to push that forward other than through department Chairs.

V Pimmett returned to the topic of student feedback on supervisors, particularly that a supervisory relationship can be important for the rest of a graduate student’s career, and that some people will hold on to negative reviews and let it affect them and their relationship with their students. Therefore, the potential for less than true feedback from students is high, because they are held hostage to the reference letter. N Krogman responded that her department Chair does exit interviews and that there are ways to do them where it is not risky. V Pimmett responded that she felt that it is less optimal to submit feedback within a department, and it might be better at a faculty level. In the Faculty of Medicine there are annual reviews, but students do not say anything about their supervisor unless it is positive, because they will find out who said it. There are not a lot of students in individual departments, so it is easy to figure out, and the chances of repercussions are too big to risk it. N Krogman replied that the challenge is to catch bad supervision and to do something about it. Some professors leave a graveyard of graduate students behind them and there has to be a way to address that. V Pimmett suggested that having the opportunity to talk to current graduate students before beginning, away from the supervisor, is a possibility, but it is dangerous to have that information filter through the supervisor. N Krogman responded that very few supervisors provide information for contacting their current students to potential students. Furthermore, many international students arrive just for the promise of funding and the prestige of a supervisor without doing any research into what it might be like to work with them. Some graduate coordinators will attempt to hint to prospective students, but N Krogman does not think that is ethical because it’s behind the scenes. There needs to be a process that does not put students at risk.

R Coulthard stated that any kind of graduate student evaluation will be challenging to implement and may prove difficult, but that if it does get implemented it will be less contentious and problematic over time. He has observed that, often, supervisory committees will only meet during the candidacy process, and then not again until the defense; a lot of problems could be solved by ensuring the existing regulations for regular supervisory committee meetings are followed. R Coulthard asked if N Krogman had a blank slate institution at which to advise on supervision, what implementations would she advise? N Krogman responded that she would put it good supervision in an institution’s mission statement, its Faculties’ goals, and make it a mainstream priority for high quality mentorship. It should not be assumed that just because a person has a PhD that they have the skills to supervise successfully; it is a whole body of skills that should be worked on throughout a career. It is hard to get this across in a large, established institution like the U of A. R Coulthard asked if it might be possible to implement these suggestions as part of the promotion process - to interview current and former students, and other people who work with the individual as a means of gathering feedback. In response, N Krogman asked if R Coulthard... thought that would escape the problem of putting students at risk. If faculty knew that it was coming up as part of the promotion process, they might be more careful in their behaviour, especially if the people were randomly selected for interviews, similar to the process used on Dean selection committees. R Coulthard replied that if N Krogman believes it would be valuable that it could be phased in with new higher and even with existing faculty.

H Samuel asked for clarification on a recommendation to increase standards in accepting graduate students to increase likelihood of success. He asked what standards are being referred to, and if there is clear correlation between these standards and graduate student success. N Krogman replied that she had changed the wording in the document since it was circulated to Council; it now reads that selection criteria should be refined. The intent is that there may be features of graduate students who succeed more and are happy with their choice of degree across departments that can guide selection and make process and expectations of graduate programs clearer to potential and incoming students.

There were no further questions and D Prins thanked N Krogman.

6. Community Service Learning Program (CSLP)

C More introduced the item and the guest, Dr Alison Taylor (Director, Community Service Learning). C More stated that A Taylor was attending Council to provide information regarding opportunities for graduate students.

A Taylor then spoke about Community Service Learning (CSL) and raised the following points:

A Taylor asked S Sawchuk to speak to her experience with CSL. S Sawchuk indicated that her Humanities Computing course had students undertake a CSL course on project management in the real world and she found that it was a great experience. A Taylor stated that the best testimonials about CSL come from students.

A Taylor outlined that at the U of A CSL operates by supporting instructors with bringing CSL into the classroom at the undergraduate and graduate level. CSL is housed in the Faculty of Arts but crosses all faculties. The program is instructor-driven, with experiential learning and embedded courses usually involving 20 hours outside the class. Participation can be mandatory or optional (instructor determined). CSL usually works with not-for-profit agencies, schools, universities, and hospitals. CSL does not work with private sector. There are different ways to get involved with CSL. Students in a graduate course which includes a CSL component work with community organisations based on their needs which can involve research, community-based research, and program consultation and development. Eighty-four percent of students who take CSL courses believe it enhances their learning and would recommend them to peers. Currently CSL works with about 170 community partners and can develop more projects.

Graduate students also get involved by volunteering for Humanities 101, an outreach program with free for credit programs for community members living in communities with crime, poverty, or other hardships. Graduate students are involved with teaching and instructing these courses as volunteers. CSL is considering developing a similar Science 101 program. Graduate students instructing their own courses are encouraged to include CSL. There are FGSR sessions and orientation programs to introduce instructors to CSL. CSL will assist with syllabus planning, course design, and other supports for instructors wanting to include CSL in their courses. During the course, CSL assists with setting up student projects and facilitates access for students, as well as continued liaison with community partners. CSL also has a research group through which instructors are encouraged to publish on post-secondary teaching and CSL. Graduate students interesting in knowing more about CSL are encouraged to contact the program directly.

Following the presentation C More asked what A Taylor wanted from GSA Council. A Taylor responded that she was looking for increased engagement and exposure of CSL as instructors or Humanities 101 volunteers.

There were no further questions and D Prins thank A Taylor.

21. GSA Management
   i. Executive Director’s Report

Members had before them a written report, which had been previously distributed on 09 May, 2014. The report stood as submitted and, in addition, Ellen asked how many members of GSA Council knew what CJSR was; most did. Ellen asked how many Councillors listened to CJSR and six out of 44 members present indicated that they did.
The GSA ran a referendum a long time ago (in 2001) and graduate students voted to collect $14,000/year to support CJSR. Since then, two successive presidents have wondered if it remains a prudent use graduate student dollars given CJSR’s casino fundraising successes and given the evolution of the GSA’s services. The GSA has a member on the CJSR Board, and receives their financial reports. The GSA will be consulting with graduate students on whether or not to continue financially supporting CJSR at the current level after an analysis of CJSR’s most recent financial reports. Comments regarding CJSR can be directed to the GSA President, N Andrews.

Ellen reported the results of the survey of Council and indicated that the GSA might rerun the Council survey as we have new Councillors. Responses from this survey indicated that 100% of Councillors have access to a mailing list for their department, 41% provide feedback to constituents, and 97% would like a paragraph summary of meetings. The GSA will begin circulating a paragraph summary, approved by the Speaker, following this meeting of Council. Use of the hardcopy agenda/handbook is 50%, while 72% value Council remuneration funds. This raises concerns about the small amount of money that some departmental GSAs are dependent upon. Finally, 64% responded that departments run social activities during orientation, but only 25% of departmentalized faculties provide social activities.

Ellen also noted that the GSA office staff are working towards integrating Bylaw and Policy, with the first round of editorial changes going through M Bal as the Vice-Chair of the GSA Governance Committee.

There were no questions.

22. Written Questions

No written questions were received prior to the meeting.

23. Oral Questions

A Radil asked if any Councillors had been to the mandatory training sessions required by Student Groups Services to register a student group. H Samuel responded that he attended a presidential training session and did not find it worthwhile. N Mehta indicated that the Medical Microbiology and Immunology departmental GSA had chosen not to register this year instead of going through the process as they did not feel it was necessary. E Schoeck informed Council that the GSA was aware of the issues with student group registration and training, and that they are looking into other forms of training for graduate students. Councillors were encouraged to contact M Bajaj with any feedback or questions regarding student groups.

N Andrews thanked D Prins for his service to the GSA over the last two years, first as CRO and then as Speaker. As CRO, D Prins submitted a report with 47 recommendations for GSA Elections and Referenda Bylaws and Policy review. As Speaker, he has received over 500 emails, and has spent 30 hours chairing Council and attending pre-Council meetings.

Adjournment

The meeting was adjourned at 8:17 pm.

GSA SPEAKER NOMINEES

1. Qiang Li

Qiang Li Biography:
I am looking forward to your support for the GSA Speaker. I am currently a graduate student in the Department of Chemical and Materials Engineering, researching the mechanism in converting coal into liquid fuel. I was a Ph.D. Candidate in chemical engineering and transferred to Master Program. Now I’m backing to my Ph.D. program. Before joining U of A, I attend Tianjin University (China), where I earned B.Sc. (honor) in chemical engineering.

During my two years on GSA council as Councillor-At-Large and sometimes presented for my department as President of CMEGSA, I worked with you there, and together we contributed our time and efforts for our graduate students. Now with my passion, I would like to work with you guys further on the council, helping develop a more active and effective council.

Qiang Li Resume:
I am currently serving my second term on the Labour Relations Committee of GSA since 2012. In this role, I played an active role in revising the Collective Agreement and discussed the issues regarding graduate student academic employment. Last month, I just ended my third term as GSA representative on RHA (Residence Halls Association) council, where I spread the voice of graduate students on residence issues and helped build a stronger RHA council. In the two years on GSA council as Councillor-At-Large, I simultaneously acted as President for Chemical and Materials Engineering Graduate Students’ Association (CMEGSA) and councillors at GFC (General Faculties Council) and FGSR council.

I’m running for GSA Speaker because I have demonstrated the leadership and collaborative spirit necessary to preside over meetings of Council and maximize the benefits for graduate students.

With your support, I will continue to spread the voice of graduate students and develop a more active and effective council.

2. Sarah Prescott

Sarah Prescott Biography:
I am currently working on an MSc degree in Natural Resource Economics. I graduated in 2007, also from the University of Alberta, with a BSc in Environmental Science. Following this, I spent 5 years working as a consultant for oil and gas companies, investigating and cleaning up contamination associated with conventional oil and gas wellsites and pipelines. I eventually decided that I wanted to steer my career more towards the human aspects of environmental treatment, instead of the technical aspects. This led to me coming back to University for additional education.

This past school year, I was Vice-President of the University of Alberta Mindfulness Meditation student group and, from January to April, was the alternative GSA council representative for Resource Economics and Environmental Sociology.

Sarah Prescott Resume:
I am researching the non-market economic benefits of off-highway vehicle use in the Crowsnest Pass area, in the south-eastern Rocky Mountains of Alberta.

I have always been interested in how good meeting facilitation helps to get work done, while clunky meeting facilitation can prevent progress. This is one reason I am interested in the role of Speaker. I have regularly attended Council meetings since January, as well as several meetings in the fall, so I have a good understanding of the overall functioning of the GSA. In my working life, I often acted as the on-site coordinator of both earth-moving and farming-type activities. This required strong organization skills and clear and timely communication with all workers on the site. While I understand that the role of Speaker is a facilitating role, not a directing role, I think that this experience is very relevant in my ability to succeed in this role.

I will be conducting analysis of my research and thesis preparation this year, and have a flexible enough schedule to complete the duties of Speaker. This summer I will be frequently be out of Edmonton, conducting research, but I can arrange my schedule to be in Edmonton for Council meetings.
GSA DEPUTY SPEAKER

Duties in Bylaw (Part IV Officers, Section 3 Council-elected Officers)

b. The Speaker shall see that an agenda package is prepared for all meetings of Council.
c. The Speaker is ultimately responsible for review of the Minutes of meetings of Council prior to their being distributed to Council for approval.
d. The Speaker is responsible for tracking attendance at meetings of Council.
e. The Speaker oversees the archiving of the official copies of the GSA’s governing documents and is responsible for ensuring that up-to-date copies thereof are available to members on the website.
f. The position of Speaker averages two (2) hours per week, except for weeks where there is a Council meeting, in which case there is an average of five (5) hours.

As my coursework is complete and I am writing up my thesis, I can confirm I am able to attend Council meetings throughout the year.
GSA NOMINATING COMMITTEE (NoC)
FACULTY OF ENGINEERING DEAN SELECTION COMMITTEE (ONE POSITION)

Nominees

GSA Council Members Staying on the GSA Board: Lacey Fleming (Anthropology) and Michele DuVal (Biological Sciences)

GSA Board Nominees (TWO):

1. Jude Dzevela Kong (Councillor-at-Large, Math and Stats)

   Jude Dzevela Kong Biography:
   I am a second year PhD student in Applied Mathematics. Prior to moving to the university of Alberta, I completed an Erasmus Mundus masters degree in mathematical modelling from the the university of Hamburg-Germany and the University of L'Aquila in Italy, and a Bsc. In Mathematics from the University of Buea- Cameroon. In the university of Buea, I served the student body as the the Chairman of Council and as the secretary general of the faculty of science students' association. While doing my masters in Europe, we formed the Africa Students’ Union-Italy, and I was the first president. I am currently the Erasmus Mundus Students and Alumni Coordinator for Central Africa and one of the University of Alberta GSA Councillors at Large.

   Jude Dzevela Kong Resume:
   I have gained a lot of experience from the various leadership roles I have taken. As the Erasmus Mundus Students and Alumni Coordinator, I advocate for the Erasmus students from Central Africa in the European Union. While acting as the Chairperson of Council in the University of Buea, I was the voice and advocate of the students. Among other things, I encouraged partnerships between the students and local businesses. As a team, we made the University of Buea a recognized leading university in Cameroon. All these experiences have helped shaped me into a more mature student advocate and have allowed me to grow while working in a team environment. I believe they have made me a strong candidate to be a member of the GSA board and I would be honoured to work towards making our university a great place for graduate students.

   To better prepare myself for my future task, I am not joining the board only to share my experiences from the various Universities I have played key leadership roles in, but equally to learn from the distinguished executive members in the GSA board. I strongly believe that if I become a member of the board, I will be more expose to the functions of the various executive members and the obstacles they face in executing them. This will better prepare me for one of the VPs position next year.

2. Harsh Thaker (Councillor-at-Large, Medicine)

   Harsh Thaker Biography:
   I was raised in Markham, ON and I was actively involved with the student council in high school serving as a Student Representative as well as the A/V Coordinator. I received a BSc degree in Molecular Biology with Co-op at the University of Waterloo (2012). During my time at UW, I assisted with orientation week and became a coordinator for faculty-related events. Also, I served as a representative for the Biology Undergraduate Society (BUGS) and helped organize tutoring sessions for students living in residence. My volunteer experiences include patient visitation at Grand River Hospital as well as handling inquiries at the front desk. I have recently started working as a Vision Mate with the CNIB here in Edmonton.

   Harsh Thaker Resume:
   I am currently pursuing an MSc in the Department of Medicine working with Dr. Mason and the CEGIR group studying the pathways of inflammation in patients with Crohn's Disease. During my undergraduate degree, I worked as a researcher at Western University, Yale, and the U of A which exposed me to the organizational structure and how decision-making processes are carried out at these different institutions. I am currently serving on the GSA Budget and Finance Committee, GSA Awards Selection Committee and as an FGSR Councillor. I will also be representing the university as an Ambassador through Student Connect in 2014-2015. I think I would be a valuable addition to the GSA Board in a non-voting capacity and be able to provide an objective and informed opinion on the matters at hand. I am interested in taking on a larger role within the GSA next year and feel that working with the GSA Board will be beneficial to develop the necessary skill set to work in that capacity.

Dear GSA Council Members,

Please find the 2014-2015 Graduate Students’ Association Board Strategic Work Plan (SWP) attached for your review. This Plan was prepared by me along with the GSA Vice-Presidents and GSA Management to direct our efforts and identify areas where we can work with others in the University community. The Board SWP both includes the platform and strategic goals of your new team of Directly-Elected Officers and was based upon the previous Board’s SWP, which ensures continuity in terms of strategic goals, planning, and advocacy. Important GSA initiatives, including enhanced professional development opportunities for graduate students and increased services for international graduate students are developed in this Plan.

Alongside many continuing GSA initiatives, developed in the 2013-2014 Board SWP, this new version outlines several new strategic goals. In brief, the key priorities that the GSA Vice-Presidents and I have identified for 2014-2015 are:

- The creation of first-rate professional development opportunities for graduate students
- Sustained and active engagement in tuition, mandatory non-instructional fees (MNIFs), and market modifier debates as well as engagement with University Administration and the provincial government on issues surrounding the financial support of post-secondary education
- Support a strong FGSR and maintain a strong graduate student voice in any proposed FGSR reforms (also sometimes referred to as graduate studies reform) and continued work with FGSR and other groups to develop quality measures and an ambitious vision of graduate education at the University of Alberta
- Increased services for international graduate students (including lobbying for the creation of a Provincial Nominee Program stream for current international graduate students and the University’s assistance with Permanent Residency applications)
- Further development of the Department Liaison Initiative and working to actively engage with graduate students
- Working with partner provincial GSAs to finalize the creation of a new, strong provincial lobbying group that, with well-developed bylaws and financial reporting structures, will remain functional and effective over time
- Maintaining a strong provincial and federal advocacy presence
- Continued work with the University on education, compliance, and dispute resolution associated with the Collective Agreement and the negotiation of increased funding for academically employed graduate students
- Continued strong partnership in any implementation of the recommendations contained in the recently released final report of the Graduate Student Supervision Task Force, a joint initiative of the Provost, FGSR and the GSA
- Maintaining strong relationships with our partner associations – SU, AASUA, PDFA, and NASA – and with the University President, Provost’s Office and other Vice-Presidents, the Dean of Students, the Dean of FGSR, members of the Board of Governors, Governance, Senate, Alumni Association, service providers, and other key partners
- Continued involvement with all initiatives associated with the PAW Centre
As was the case with the previous GSA Board SWP, in implementing this Plan, we will strive for transparency, accountability, and reputation-building through regular updates to GSA Council and other stakeholders. Through this process, we hope to gain valuable feedback on how we can best achieve what we have set out to accomplish. We look forward to working with our many partners on the implementation of this Plan.

The GSA Board is interested in hearing your thoughts on the Strategic Work Plan. I look forward to our discussion on June 16.

Sincerely,

Nathan Andrews
2014-2015 GSA President
UNIVERSITY OF ALBERTA GRADUATE STUDENTS’ ASSOCIATION (GSA) BOARD

Note: The GSA sees this as a living document, constantly shifting directions as the provincial budget, the federal government’s post-secondary education strategy, the potential opening of the Post-Secondary Learning Act, and the U of A landscape all unfold and change.

VISION: The GSA envisions an engaging environment that is supportive, healthy, accessible, and inclusive, thus empowering the graduate student community to be agents of change in all endeavours, academic and otherwise, both during their time here and beyond. The GSA believes that a healthy organization is nurtured through effective relationships with various stakeholders\(^1\) and constituent groups of the academy\(^2\). Nonetheless, an organization that hopes to evolve over time must be prepared to take steps at critical junctures that may or may not be endorsed by all of its stakeholders.

MISSION:

1. Advocate for comprehensive, timely, and excellent supports within the University governance system and with government. The GSA is a vigilant voice for stewardship of the graduate student experience with regard to funding, housing, and services. As graduate enrolment (and international student enrolment) increases, we believe these key infrastructure pieces should be in place before new graduate students register and that attention must be paid to the career opportunities and professional development of graduate students who plan to either enter the academy or pursue careers outside academia.

2. Ensure compliance with the Collective Agreement that supports graduate students who are employed by the University.
   i. We ensure that employed graduate students are fairly compensated for their work, while also ensuring that such work does not place graduate students at a disadvantage during their studies.
   ii. We ensure that employed graduate students’ work environments are safe, free from harassment, discrimination and bullying, and foster a culture of workplace wellness.
   iii. We advocate for “sustainable funding”: that, through strategic investments and reallocation of central funding, ALL graduate students who are otherwise without funding will have access to enriching graduate student employment to the benefit of the graduate student and the University.

3. Foster student engagement. The GSA defines engagement as intellectual, personal and pre-professional involvements that are enriching, rewarding, milestones in maturity, and marked by learning, testing, personal development, success, and sometimes failure. The GSA believes student engagement occurs from the time a student asks for information about applying for graduate studies through the end-point of convocation. We support continuing student engagement through involvement in governance, networks anchored in residence life, professional development, networking opportunities, and opportunities for the development of “soft”/management skills, and in social settings where friendships and research collaboration can occur.

4. Support academic endeavours of graduate students. The GSA supports and encourages an empowering environment for graduate students to thrive in their various academic, professional programs, and research endeavours. This entails creating avenues for students to present their research to the larger academic community in and out of the U of A, ensuring a good relationship between graduate students and their supervisor(s), rewarding deserving students for excellence in academic work and research, and encouraging the continued development of professional development programs for graduate students.

\(^1\) Stakeholders are defined in this document as individuals, groups, and offices that are directly affected by the GSA and its initiatives.

\(^2\) Constituent groups of the academy are defined in this document as, faculty, graduate students, undergraduate students, and non-academic staff — all of which are represented on GFC — for our internal purposes within the GSA, the PDFA is also viewed as a group empowered to “communicate with the U of A on all issues of general importance to the Postdoctoral Fellow Community” (Memorandum of Understanding between the PDFA and the U of A).

<td>The GSA has a responsibility to ensure that the GSA maintains an excellent reputation over time.</td>
<td>To maintain a culture of respect and tolerance in the GSA office and in all dealings with the University community, all Directly-Elected Officers, management, and staff of the GSA will maintain a high level of professionalism. The GSA remains committed to the process of strategic planning, regular follow through on goals and tasks, and regular reporting to Council. Proactive search for talent (eg Directly-Elected Officers, committee members) will be ongoing. Promote in the Early Call and training program the feasibility of taking on GSA elected positions. Develop strategies and supports in collaboration with outgoing and incoming Directly-Elected Officers. Continue to realign the most optimal division of labour between Directly-Elected Officers and management/staff so Directly-Elected Officers are well-supported in a student-led and professionally-managed environment where, over the past four years, all of the GSA Directly-Elected Officers have been successful in their academic programs while holding office. Work to actively engage with graduate students (eg through the Department Liaison Initiative (DLI) and education on the Collective Agreement (CA)). Continue to track the hours of Directly-Elected Officers and regularly review portfolios and responsibilities. Continue to move forward on 2010 recommendations of the GSA consultant, eg itemize areas that need review with respect to rebuilding the infrastructure, and continue to meet goals for bylaw and policy review. Engage in a comprehensive review of elections bylaw and policy (including those related to GSA elections). Enhance the public face of the GSA through the utilization of social media and the GSA website.</td>

<td>Intensive, integrated advocacy for and representation of graduate student issues.</td>
<td>Advocacy will require strong relationships with our partner associations – SU, AASUA, PDFA, and NASA. The GSA Board revived constituency meetings with these associations in 2012. It is key to reinforce these relationships and identify shared priorities in building a common vision of postsecondary education. Maintain relationship with President, Provost’s Office and other Vice-Presidents, members of the Board of Governors, Governance, Senate, Alumni Association, service providers, and other key partners. <tr>
<td>Engage with University Administration and the provincial government on issues surrounding the financial support of post-secondary education.</td>
<td>Post-secondary education plays an important role in any prosperous society, and the Government of Alberta should be investing in post-secondary education to ensure a positive socio-economic future for the province. However, the GSA understands that the Government of Alberta budget is dependent on revenue generation, and when revenue is low, hard budgetary decisions must be made. The GSA believes that the Government of Alberta needs to organize a means of providing predictable and sustainable funding that can uphold the high standard of accessible, world-class education in this province. The Government of Alberta should consider new forms of revenue generation that are reliable; both in the short-term, to ensure predictable revenue from which to establish a balanced annual budget that is not dependent on funding cuts, and in the long-term, to ensure that the Government of Alberta can continue to support high quality post-secondary education.</td>

<td>In 2013-2014, the GSA greatly enhanced its external lobbying and advocacy presence at the provincial and national levels. The portfolio of Vice-President Student Life was changed to that of VP External to reflect this new level of advocacy. Additionally, a robust external relations line was incorporated into the 2014-2015 GSA budget and policies surrounding the approval of external relations travel expenses were established. In 2014-2015 the GSA will maintain its external presence and aim to attend the Western Deans conference, various local political events, CAGS, and any other advocacy and lobbying opportunities that may arise. The GSA will also participate in GU15 (which has become an effective venue for information exchange on critical issues) and will monitor the development of the Western Canadian GSA Summit.</td>

<td>3. FUNDING AND GRADUATE REFORM</td>
<td>The GSA supports tuition increases directly tied to the Alberta Consumer Price Index (CPI), and opposes across-the-board graduate student tuition increases and increases to the international student tuition differential increase beyond that. The GSA opposes the introduction of new market modifiers that are not part of a clear regulatory framework to define professional masters programs, and the introduction of new MNIFs or increases to any existing MNIFs beyond Alberta CPI that do not result from an agreed upon regulatory framework. In developing its position on graduate market modifiers, MNIFs, and graduate student tuition increases, the GSA Board will consult with GSA Council and the broader graduate student community.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Engage in tuition(^ 3 ), mandatory non-instructional fees (MNIFs), and market modifier debates and advocate and engage on issues of graduate student support.</td>
<td>The GSA believes that there should be sustainable public funding to support excellence at the University of Alberta. To that end, we do not think that an increase to tuition and fees is a solution to the challenges this institution faces. The GSA will lobby for affordable graduate student tuition and fees. Additionally, the GSA believes in the value of the education received at this institution, and understands that there are costs associated with obtaining an education that are, in part, recovered through tuition fees.</td>
</tr>
<td>Support a strong FGSR and maintain a strong graduate student voice in any proposed FGSR reforms (also sometimes referred to as graduate studies reform) and continue to work with FGSR and other groups to develop quality measures and an ambitious vision of graduate education at the University of Alberta.</td>
<td>Strive to make certain that any new quality measures, funding models, and graduate student management plans (GSMPs) do not disproportionately favour some faculties or departments over others in future resource allocation and that graduate students are involved in reform discussions at the department, faculty, and university levels. Advocate for increased resources for FGSR and collaborate to establish the best professional development programs in Canada by continuing to participate vigorously in the FGSR led Professional Development Network and Professional Development Advisory Board. Advocate consistently on the necessity of professional development for graduate students.</td>
<tr>
<td>Negotiation of the CA and lobbying for increased funding.</td>
<td>The GSA applauds the efforts of the FGSR Dean, Associate Deans, and staff to make sure that graduate students are treated fairly and have access to excellent services across campus. We see FGSR as a key partner in the delivery of quality graduate education and just treatment of graduate students. A robust FGSR – one with adequate resources to execute its mandate, where staff feel empowered and appreciated – links closely with our own organizational efficacy.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Key members of the U of A, including the Board Chair Doug Goss, have noted that graduate students are the lifeblood of the institution. We want to see this statement translate into increased funding attached to TA and RA appointments. \(^ 3 \) The GSA Board will work University Administration to comply with the Post-Secondary Learning Act Public Post-Secondary Institutions’ Tuition Fees Regulation which states that “A board shall provide to the institution’s students’ council each year a statement of anticipated tuition fee increases for a 4-year period, and establish with the students’ council a mechanism for holding consultations to discuss increases in tuition fees and to allow for ongoing input by that council to the budget process relative to the determination of tuition fees” (Sections 3(1)(a) and (b) - Consultations). <td>4. SUPPORTS FOR GRADUATE STUDENTS</td>
<td>The GSA will continue to participate vigorously in any implementation of the recommendations in the recently released report of the Graduate Student Supervision Task Force, a joint initiative of the Provost, FGSR and the GSA. The GSA will establish an action plan from the recommendations contained in the supervisory report, and will engage in many different forums to discuss supervisory issues. Improving supervision will involve collaboration with individual faculties, FGSR, and Administration.</td>
<tr>
<td>Quality graduate student supervision should be an institutional priority. Quality graduate student supervision is instrumental to graduate students’ success, yet it is under-emphasized in relation to publications and teaching in FECs.</td>
<td>As stated in the report, “high quality supervision and mentorship is central to an institution committed to seeing their graduate students flourish in their careers and in the contributions they make to the public good.” Specific to this, the GSA and others will pursue the recommendations in the report surrounding the provision of training and mentorship to supervisors to raise standards of supervision and mentorship, tying it in to suggestions from the Renaissance Committee’s report regarding rank progression.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The GSA wishes to ensure that as graduate numbers (especially the number of international graduate students) are increased, the right supports and infrastructure are in place.</td>
<td>Continue to lobby both government and the University for assistance and support for international graduate students who are seeking Canadian Permanent Residence. <tr>
<td>Continue to harness our energy in order to achieve an inclusive campus.</td>
<td>Work to create a welcoming and supportive environment for international graduate students (eg be actively engaged in all discussions surrounding International Differential Fees and evaluate the possibility of offering new scholarships to cover the international differential fees for top-performing international students).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Access to more scholarships, bursaries, and other funding opportunities for international graduate students (administered through FGSR) is a key priority of the GSA. International graduate students face off-campus work restrictions and have to compete with domestic students for on campus jobs. Most major awards are not open to international graduate student applicants. The creation of an adequate number of institutional awards, rivalling Tri-Council awards in funding levels and prestige, as well as opening some existing bursaries to international student applicants is essential.</td>
<td>Discuss with Administration and our partner constituencies (SU, NASA, AASUA, and PDFA) ways to make the U of A an even safer space. 5. STUDENT EXPERIENCE

Continue to develop the Departmental Liaison Initiative (DLI).

- The DLI focuses on eight key points:
  - Compliance with the PSLA (e.g. election of a Councillor)
  - Risk assessment and reduction related to graduate student groups affiliated with the GSA
  - Education about and compliance with the CA (the GSA is committed to providing information sessions and hardcopy and electronic briefings to students and departments)
  - Tailoring GSA Orientations to the needs of departments
  - Representation on Faculty Councils
  - Linking functional departmental GSAs with struggling ones and providing for a department liaison
  - The “proactive search” for graduate student talent as per the Nominating Committee’s terms of reference
  - Advising departments on the process for nominating an individual for an Honorary Degree (added at the request of the Chancellor)

- Collaborate and proactively plan fall and winter term GSA orientations for all departments, (coordinated with the Department Liaison Initiative). Continue to connect/collaborate with respect to International Centre Orientations.

- Spearhead efforts to create opportunities for social interaction amongst graduate students.

- Continue to work with Graduate Program Administrators and individual departments. Collaborate with Office of the Dean of Students (with which the GSA has an MOU) and Student Group Services to develop goals and strategies for Graduate Student Group support and interaction.

6. SERVICES AND PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Mental Health: continue to work with Administration, Students’ Union, the Office of the Dean of Students, and University Health and Wellness on issues and initiatives related to improving mental health on campus.

- Participate in the Administration’s ongoing mental health initiatives. The GSA applauds the recent mental health review on campus and the decision to establish a satellite office for counselling in Triffo Hall for graduate student use. The GSA will continue to work with the Dean of Students’ Office, collaborating in the implementation stage to improve mental health services at and tackle the mental health challenges that sometimes act as a barrier to graduate student success.

<td>Professional Development: Most graduate students [between 60-75%] will not pursue careers in academia. In recognition of the diverse career paths of graduate students, we believe that professional development opportunities must be increased and diversified.</td>

The GSA will continue to advocate consistently on the necessity of professional development for graduate students. Continue to lobby for increased funds for graduate students academic activities in the form of GSA Professional Development Awards. Continue to subsidize Writing Resources Centre courses and CAPS, which receive excellent reviews from graduate students. Lobby to augment services such as the courses and one-on-one support offered by the Writing Resources Centre for international students. The GSA is committed to regularly reviewing/monitoring all GSA services (such as the GSA Health and Dental Plan, TDMMI home and auto insurance, GSAP, and U-Pass) to ensure that students are getting the highest value possible for their money. As current agreements with service providers expire (eg Studentcare, TDMMI), the GSA will undertake focused reviews before renewal. Studentcare and the Alumni Association have both surveyed graduate students over the past year and included questions provided by the GSA, including questions about GSA services. The GSA will be analysing the data that was collected and formulating a plan to move ahead. Such a study would have a significant and informative effect on planning for such matters as orientation, student housing, and academic supports (eg writing and English-language supports) and non-academic supports (childcare, graduate student family supports, access to prayer space, and accommodation regarding dietary issues). The GSA believes that a University-initiated demographic study of graduate students should occur every three years.</td>

8. LONG-TERM HEALTH OF THE GSA

| Continued vigilance in maintaining excellence in the administration of the GSA.         | Work closely with the Executive Director and her management team on ensuring the GSA has a viable staffing infrastructure to support both our corporate responsibilities (eg staff Collective Agreement, insurance, audit, budget planning, fiscal prudence) and the need for cross-training and succession planning. |
Outline of Issue: 2014-2015 GSA Board Strategic Work Plan

Suggested Motion for GSA Council:

That the GSA Council, on the unanimous recommendation of the GSA Board, receive for information the GSA Board Strategic Work Plan 2014-2015 (pages 9.3 - 9.11 in the attached material).

Jurisdiction:

Post-Secondary Learning Act (PSLA) 94(3):
“The graduate students association of a university shall provide for the administration of graduate student affairs at the university, including ... the promotion of the general welfare of the graduate students consistent with the purposes of the university.”

GSA Policy, Standing Committees, Section 2.2.a:
“The GSAB is the senior administrative authority of the GSA as delegated to it by Council.”

Background:

The GSA Board Strategic Work Plan 2014-2015 builds upon the 2013-2014 GSA Board SWP and also incorporates the platform of the new team of Directly-Elected Officers.

At the June 4, 2014 meeting of the GSA Board, members approved and forwarded to Council the GSA Board Strategic Work Plan 2014-2015.

From: Nathan Andrews
Date: June 13, 2014

Dear Council Colleagues,

I am hoping the weather is warming up enough for you all. I have personally resolved that in Edmonton, one should use nice weather when it’s available. But I won’t stress too much about it since it’s as good as it gets here in the West. Since my last report, I have been occupied with a number of meetings, including several consultation sessions for the GSA President’s Task Force on GSA Elections Bylaw and Policy. The sessions have gone well so far and I look forward to sharing and speaking about the final report at the July Council meeting.

Another thing that has taken my time since my last report is the new provincial advocacy group, now called the Alberta Graduate Provincial Advocacy Council (AB-GPAC). Continuing Councillors will be aware that this process started during the term of my predecessor, Brent Epperson. A lot of ground work has been laid regarding the development of bylaws and policies including financial control policies and a code of conduct for members, but in terms of signing the group into effect, that can only happen in October after the University of Calgary GSA goes through its referendum to join or not. Here at the U of A, we don’t need such a referendum. However, there is some thinking around potentially increasing the fees students currently pay for the erstwhile AGC: this would require a referendum. More updates on this will follow in coming months because I am keen on getting this body legally formed so that the actual advocacy work can begin.

There are ongoing discussions around the university’s creation of a professional development strategy and graduate funding model, which I will briefly reflect on orally at Council since they are both key priorities for this year. I did report last month that we were drafting the GSA Board 2014-2015 Strategic Work Plan. And I am happy to announce that the plan is now ready for wider circulation and I will present it at Council. I am happy to answer any questions about any of the meetings I attended since my last report to Council.

Cheers,

Nathan Andrews, GSA President

GSA Nominating Committee (NoC)
Report to Council for June 16, 2014 GSA Council Meeting

To: GSA Council
From: Lacey Fleming, Vice-Chair of the GSA Nominating Committee
Date: June 13, 2014

Dear Council Colleagues,

The report from the GSA Nominating Committee (NoC) is a summary of discussion/decisions the NoC has made since its last report together with a list of all vacancies filled.

The Bylaw governing the NoC is located in Part V (Standing Committees). Policy governing NoC is found in the sections titled “Nominating” and “Standing Committees.” As provided for in its terms of reference, the GSA Nominating Committee (NoC) has been conducting business via e-mail.

Sincerely,

Lacey Fleming, Vice-Chair of the GSA Nominating Committee

GSA Council-Elected Officers

2014 GSA CRO, Speaker, and Deputies Council Election
These positions were advertised through the GSA Newsletter on May 2, 2014, with nominations closing on May 30, 2014 at 12:00 PM. Two applications were received for Speaker, one application was received for CRO, one application was received for Deputy Speaker, and one application was received for DRO. Additional nominations were accepted until Friday June 6 at 12:00 PM (Noon). No additional nominations were received. SEE ITEM 6 - NOMINEES FOR GSA COUNCIL-ELECTED OFFICERS, PAGES 6.0 - 6.4.

Bodies External to the GSA

Council has delegated to the NoC the responsibility of filling positions on all committees external to the GSA. Normally, all vacancies are advertised. According to Policy, “advertising may be waived in instances where, in the NoC’s view, it is urgent to fill a vacancy” (GSA Policy, Nominating, 5.2).

1) Dean of Engineering Selection Committee (1 Position):
A Selection Committee for the Dean of Engineering has been struck. The Faculty Deans Selection Procedure Appendix A: Dean Selection Committees for Individual Faculties, as approved by the General Faculties Council Executive Committee, outlines that the Departmental GSAs in Engineering will select and forward one name to GSA Council and the representative will be elected by the Graduate Students’ Association Council. SEE ITEM 6 - NOMINEES FOR FACULTY OF ENGINEERING DEAN SELECTION COMMITTEE, PAGES 6.5 - 6.6.

2) Faculty of Arts Council (5 Positions)
These positions were advertised through the GSA Newsletter on Friday May 23, 2014. The GSA is in the process of reviewing applications and conducting a proactive search to ensure all five positions are filled on this Council.
3) Faculty of Arts Library Committee (1 Position)
This position was advertised through the GSA Newsletter on Friday May 23, 2014. One application was received before the deadline of Friday May 30 at noon. Margot Challborn, (MA program, Political Science) was elected to serve on this committee until May 31, 2015.

4) Faculty of Arts Academic and Grade Appeals Committee
A position for one Arts graduate student to serve on the Faculty of Arts Academic and Grade Appeals Committee was advertised through the GSA Newsletter in April. No applications were received, so through a proactive search, Alphonse Ndem Ahola (Phd Program, Anthropology) was selected to serve on this committee until April 30, 2015.

5) Science Faculty Council (Delegate)
One of the graduate student representatives elected to serve on the Science Faculty Council for 203-2014 was unable to attend the meeting in May 2014. The NoC elected Richard Zhao (PhD program, Computing Science) to serve as the graduate student representative’s delegate for the May meeting of the Science Faculty Council.

6) Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) Initiative Advisory Group
The University created a new advisory group to gather input and feedback on strategy, action plans, and required resources for moving forward with the U of A’s Personal Protective Equipment Initiative. Due to the urgent need for representatives the NoC waived advertising the positions through the GSA Newsletter. The NoC advertised this position to current GSA Councillors-at-Large with potential laboratory experience, and received two expressions of interest. The NoC recommended to the advisory group that Saeed Nusri (CAL and MSc program, Chemical and Materials Engineering) and Kangyi Lou (CAL and MSc program, Renewable Resources) both serve on this group.
Hello everyone!

With summer here, I hope you manage to find some time to take off and recharge amongst field work and the usual life of a grad student! I’ve managed to get to the mountains a few times already myself, and fully intend to go many more times!

As has been the case for the past several months, the university administration is continuing to be fairly quiet. This is a combination of their preparing to present a number of initiatives in the fall, along with it being summer for them as well. However, whispers of things like responsibility-based budgeting, a scheme already in use in many US institutions which shifts financial responsibilities onto faculties, have reached us. This is added to the usual rumours around General Faculties Council and graduate studies reform. Stay posted in the fall -- it's going to be exciting!

On our side, the arrival of the report by Provost's Fellow Dr. Naomi Krogman on graduate supervision (presented at the May council meeting) has caused that issue to become my top priority for the year. I am presently crafting a plan on how to approach the recommendations the report raises, split into two parts. One outlines goals achievable in the short term, within a year or so. The second lays out a more strategic vision, to be worked towards over the next three to five years. Hopefully we'll have something substantive on the issue to show you at the July council meeting!

Until then, take care, and as always, feel free to get in touch with any questions you may have!

Colin More, Vice-President Academic

GSA Vice-President Student Services
Report to Council for June 16, 2014 GSA Council Meeting

To: GSA Council
From: Megha Bajaj
Date: June 13, 2014

Dear Council Colleagues,

Hope you are well and enjoying the summer-ish weather! The last month has been a bit slow for me as I was on an academic leave for two weeks. But on the bright side, I am now done with my PhD candidacy exam, so that’s a relief!

Below is an update on some meetings I attended since last Council:

Joint U-Pass-ETS Advisory Group:
The lower cost replacement U-Pass stickers will be in place for the Fall 2014 term. Currently Edmonton Transit Service (ETS) is working with all the institutions in Edmonton in drafting a MoU for this lower cost pilot project for replacement stickers.

Below is the detail of the reduced pro-rated cost for U-Pass replacement stickers for students at the U of A:

</tbody>

The GSA is also working along with the Infolink and ONECard offices on a communication plan for this Fall 2014 term pilot project.

The SmartFare project team made a presentation in the meeting and informed the committee that they are currently in the process of collecting data to prepare a Request for Proposals for SmartFare vendors. This is at a very early stage right now. ETS is targeting to have SmartFare in place by 2016. I will keep you informed on how this project unfolds.

PAW Steering Committee:
The PAW landscaping design is now final. The work will start around July 2014 and will be completed in phases as the weather allows. This also includes landscaping for the St. Joseph’s women’s residences, which is currently under construction on 89th avenue and 114th street. The projected completion date for the entire landscaping is Spring 2015.

Referral Process Working Group:
The Referral Process Working Group, led by Student Connect in the Registrar’s Office, is hosting presentations from various service providers across campus. The presentations include information on what type of services are offered from each service provider and how and when should students be referred to each service provider. I gave a presentation at the meeting and presented information on the Collective Agreement and GSA services offered to graduate students. The group then discussed how to move forward and some ideas that were discussed were the possibility of having a central database for all service providers which can be periodically updated and a central Google website where each service provider can keep information up to date about their own office. In the coming months, there will be more discussion about what exactly is happening with this referral group. I am hoping that they will come up with some concrete deliverables in a few months time.

Meeting with Tony Santiago for Permanent Residence Application Assistance for International Students:

Discussed the various recommendations made by University of Alberta International in their feasibility study report. The report is currently under review by Doug Weir (Director, Student Programs and Services, UAI) and then will be forwarded to Britta Baron, the Vice-Provost and Associate Vice-President (International). We are keeping a close eye on this and I will bring you updates as and when I receive them.

Sincerely,

Megha Bajaj, GSA Vice-President Student Services

Report to Council for June 13, 2014 GSA Council Meeting

To: GSA Council
From: Susan Cake
Date: June 13, 2014

Dear Council Colleagues,

I hope everyone is well and getting a chance to enjoy the warmer weather! I’m excited to update Council on some of the projects I’ve been involved with since the last meeting.

Last meeting I was away attending the Foundations Conference with the Canadian Alliance of Student Associations (CASA). The GSA has been observing this federal lobby group for a while now and we are still trying to determine if the organization is a good match and would align with some of our federal priorities.

Along with the GSA Senator Roy Coulthard and Councillor-At-Large Harsh Thacker, I attended the Senate Spring Plenary Reception. There I had a chance to quickly talk with the Provost about some of the GSA’s priorities. The Provost will be attending a meeting of the GSA Board in July to further discuss these priorities, with hopefully more to report back afterwards.

One of the other meetings I participated in was for the GU15. The GU15 is a group of graduate student groups from Canada’s 15 research-intensive universities. This group is in the midst of planning their next national conference. As well, each of the associations spoke about some of their top priorities for the group this upcoming year. The list included: policy and bylaw cleanup, federal elections, professional development, funding models, supervision, and student engagement. As you can see most of the priorities align with concerns graduate students at the U of A have as well.

Lastly, I had an opportunity to participate in the creation of the policy and bylaws that will structure the new provincial advocacy group for Alberta graduate students with Nathan. Overall this was a good meeting and I’m optimistic things will be moving forward.

If there are any questions, concerns or interest in my report please feel free to send an email.

Take care,

Susan Cake, GSA Vice-President External

To: GSA Council
From: Monty Bal
Date: June 13, 2014

Dear Council Colleagues,

Below are some of the highlights of what I’ve been up to since we last met.

Tuition Task Force
I recently attended a Tuition and Fees Task Force (TF) meeting organized by the Government of Alberta. The Government has used the TF to bring together key stakeholders from the Ministry of Innovation and Advanced Education, administration officials from various universities and colleges in AB, various community groups, and student groups to discuss important issues facing the AB Post-Secondary Education (PSE) sector. Specifically, it has sought to review the processes surrounding institutional tuition and fees setting. The Task Force has, over the past few months, sought a number of concerns raised by stakeholders and address these in upcoming changes to AB PSE sector. At this meeting, the TF outlined key principles it will forward to the Minister of Innovation and Advanced Education as the government begins to implement changes with the expiry of the Tuition and Fees Regulation in 2016. These principles recognize the understanding that the model moving forward will continue to be a cost-sharing model where both the government and students will continue to pay portions of tuition and fees. The key principles advanced by the group take into account the Affordability Framework and call for increased predictability for tuition and fees (use of CPI), simplicity of understanding PSE processes in AB, increased transparency regarding fees for students, and increased flexibility for institutions to deal with the changing environment. A key part of this effort will be to better define and categorize existing fees and provide better information to students regarding these fees. There will also be an effort to increase predictability of tuition and fees for international students, who currently fall outside the Tuition and Fees Regulation. This feedback will be forwarded to the Minister in June and following that the TF will work towards developing the details of the implementation plan.

General Faculties Council Facilities Development Committee
The primary development at FDC was the approval of University of Alberta International’s (UAI) move to Telus Centre. According to Britta Baron (Vice-Provost and Associate Vice-President (International)), currently UAI services are scattered across campus. Centralizing these services to one location would enhance efficiencies at UAI. UAI needs an enhanced presence, specifically when dealing with international visitors and guests to the University. It would be around HUB which has a large international student population and is accessible via LRT, linking it to the English language programs offered at Enterprise Square. The Centre for Teaching and Learning will be moved to 5th floor of Cameron library. Education Abroad will also be hosted at the Telus Centre. Additionally, changes to the Saskatchewan Drive residence were accounted for in a new model proposal. Finally, there was a presentation of the Michener Park Sector Plan. The University seeks to double residence units and plans to tear down and build buildings at the same time. Redevelopment will have 25% green space. Vanier Tower will be torn down. There is the potential for daycare to be offered in common space if it is financially viable, and for a study space for students. There may also be a shuttle put in place. Students wanted a building where the community could hold events during the winter, and neighbors want to potentially see a market there. The community would allow Michener Park residents to use community resources and to provide complimentary services.

Wellness Summit
I attended the Alberta PSE Wellness Summit in Calgary. There was a continuous ongoing discussion about the importance of mental health services on campus. Students groups spoke of the inclusion of mental health advocacy in elections campaigns and to government. There was also a discussion on the types of programs and services being offered across Alberta and BC to support students. Specifically, the presentation on efforts at SFU, including innovative programs to include mental health as an important factor in the learning environment was of particular interest. I believe that this type of program would benefit grad students who work as TAs and may provide them a step up in regards to professional development training. Presentations from the mental health staff at U ofC spoke to the importance of establishing an ongoing relationship between the service providers and students who utilize mental health services (for example, through establishing a case worker position). Overall, the conference helped to highlight the fact that mental health needs to be looked at through a more holistic lens and needs to involve the wider community. There were also strong signals from government officials present that the government is taking mental health very seriously and with strong student advocacy would be willing to provide stronger funding support to university programs.

Finally, as always, if there are any issues you have related to your RA/TAship, please contact us directly so we can work to help you out.

Thanks,

Simarjit S. Bal (Monty), GSA Vice-President Labour

Dear Council Colleagues,

The GSA NC has met informally twice since the last meeting of GSA Council - May 16, 2014 and June 11, 2014. The GSA NC has not yet met again with the Administration’s team. I will report further orally in closed session.

Report to Council for June 16, 2014 GSA Council Meeting

To: GSA Council
From: Ellen Schoeck, GSA Executive Director
Date: June 13, 2014

Dear Council,

Continuing Councillors will know that I choose one topic to focus on for the Executive Director’s Report to Council each month. This month I would like to share the list of documents that define the GSA as a corporate entity. Councillors who have been on Council long enough to have seen this list before will note that it has been separated into three sections: Agreements with Expiry Dates listed in order of expiration date; Agreements with no Expiry Date (Ongoing); and Other Corporate Documents.

As usual, the detailed weekly Management reports to the GSA Board are attached for your review.

I am happy to answer any questions.

Best,

Ellen Schoeck, GSA Executive Director
