Dr. Terri Givens
is a Professor of Political Science, Former Vice Provost at University of Texas at Austin, Former Provost at Menlo College, current Executive Director of the Edgemakers Institute and a Consultant for educational technology companies.

November 7, 2018
4:00 pm-5:30 pm
Papaschase Room
University of Alberta Faculty Club

Welcome and introductory remarks:
Dr. Malinda Smith, Provost Fellow,
Equity, Diversity & Inclusion Policy,
U of A 2018-2019

Light refreshments and hor d’oeuvres will be served.

Register online

Towards an Inclusive Workplace:
Being a Change Agent From Wherever You Are

Dr. Givens will share lessons she has learned throughout her career about implementing EDI strategies and initiatives in the academy. At every stage, from her days as a student to her first appointment as a junior faculty member, and finally as the Provost in a small, private tuition dependent school, Dr. Givens has spoken up, taken action and made a difference. Often it was one small step at a time, sometimes it was developing and implementing institution-wide initiatives, always it was with grit and determination.

Dr. Terri Givens is a Professor of Political Science, Former Vice Provost at University of Texas at Austin, Former Provost at Menlo College, current Executive Director of the Edgemakers Institute and a Consultant for educational technology companies.

We are committed to making this event accessible for all interested participants, contact hrequity@ualberta.ca