Lillian Vilborg MacPherson joined the university in 1970. She was appointed Law Librarian in 1980 and graduated with her LL.B. from the University of Calgary in 1984. She retired as Law Librarian in 1996. Ms. MacPherson taught Women and the Law during her tenure as Librarian and in 1990 was named Assistant Dean (Alumni Affairs). She introduced new technological advances to the Faculty and the library, and was responsible for setting up the microcomputer lab. She was a valuable resource to Faculty members, as she assisted with the transition of technological developments. Lillian MacPherson was a most important force in shaping the Weir Library into one of the best academic law libraries in Canada. She was a respected scholar who co-authored annotated bibliographies on feminist legal literature, and theology and law. She published extensively on law librarianship and was a respected authority on copyright issues.

Lillian MacPherson passed away in 2005. She was a mentor and friend to law librarians across Canada.
