The Ermineskin Medical Clinic is a privately-owned medical clinic located in South Edmonton. The clinic is part of the Edmonton Southside Edmonton Primary Care Network working as a collaborative team with nurse practitioners, dietician, behavioural health consultant and a psychiatrist.

The clinic provides comprehensive primary care to a wide spectrum of patients within a multidisciplinary medical home.

Several physicians in our group are long-time preceptors for student interns and family medicine residents. The physicians foster a collegial learning environment, including the option to spend time with other preceptors in the group. Some physicians have special areas of interest such as psychotherapy, wound care, and chronic pain.

The clinic uses an electronic medical record and actively participates in quality improvement measurement initiatives.
