Clinic Overview

The Heritage Medical Clinic is a privately-owned medical clinic located in south Edmonton with additional sites in the city. The clinic is part of the Southside Edmonton Primary Care Network working as a collaborative team with nurses, dieticians and a psychiatrist.

Heritage Medical Clinic has a young practice that deals with a lot of obstetrics and serves young families with children. As a busy practice with a wide spectrum of settings, patient types and environments in a collaborative-care setting, residents have unique opportunities to learn from a wide variety of activities. This includes clinics with marginalized prenatal programs at East Edmonton Health Centre and Woodcroft, providing exposure to healthcare delivery in an inner-city setting.

All physicians have privileges at the Grey Nuns Community Hospital.

Preceptors

PGY1 Preceptors

Irene Colliton, MD, CCFP
Special Interests: Dr. Colliton’s practice includes obstetrics and deliveries; she also is involved with in hospital in-patient care on the Primary Care Hospital Teams for a week at a time, as well as obstetrics and deliveries in her practice.

PGY 2 Preceptors

Irene Colliton, MD, CCFP
Michelle Fairgrieve-Park, MD, CCFP
Carmen Gingles, MD, CCFP
Jeninne Wismark, MD, CCFP

Accessible Program and Services

Level 2 POSP-compliant EMR called Med Access.

Allied health care providers affiliated with Edmonton Southside Primary Care Network.