MED 571 - Directed Reading in the Basic Medical Sciences

Reading and study of basic medical science topics relevant to the student's chosen field of study under the direction of one or more faculty members.

Prerequisite: consent of Department

All instructors are required to review the Medical Sciences Reading Course Guidelines & complete and submit the Course Outline Template before the course registration deadline.