GRADUATE PROGRAMS
KINESIOLOGY, SPORT, AND RECREATION
The Faculty of Kinesiology, Sport, and Recreation (KSR) at the University of Alberta is one of the premier faculties of its kind in the world. We are proud to boast excellence in teaching and research—both of which were recently recognized in the QS World University Rankings by Subject where the Faculty was named #7 in the world in sports-related subjects.

Our strength in research and teaching is our diversity in these areas. Our excellence in research and teaching encompasses work we do in the areas of sport, exercise, physical activity, health, tourism, sport rehabilitation, recreation, sport management and more. Our diversity extends to the aspect of the areas studied—biological, mechanical, behavioural and sociocultural.

The KSR Graduate Program affords students an opportunity to learn in a vibrant, supportive, and multidisciplinary research environment. Students work closely with individual faculty members who provide exceptional training and focused supervision. We believe in a student centred-approach in the development and delivery of our graduate program. Therefore, we have a number of areas of research which emphasize an individualized program of study.

GRADUATE PROGRAMS

Master of Science
This full-time, thesis-based program allows students to explore knowledge in the areas of exercise physiology and biochemistry; biomechanics; neurophysiology; behavioral medicine; and analysis of human movement and motor control.

Master of Arts
This program is offered in both a thesis- and course-based format and allows students to explore knowledge in areas such as recreation and leisure studies; exercise and sport psychology; tourism; active, healthy children; sociocultural studies of sport and leisure; and sport management.

Master of Coaching
This course-based program allows students to advance their knowledge and understanding of coaching through a curriculum tailored to student specific learning needs.

Doctor of Philosophy
This research-intensive program prepares graduates to be independent scholars, inspirational teachers, and highly qualified leaders in their academic and professional careers. Doctoral students can study in any one of our Faculty's seven areas of research.

The Faculty of Kinesiology, Sport, and Recreation is committed to providing graduate assistantship funding to new and continuing students in return for service to the Faculty. This service may be in the form of teaching, research, or other academic duties.
WHAT WILL IT COST YOU?

The Faculty of Kinesiology, Sport, and Recreation is committed to providing graduate assistantship funding to new and continuing students in return for service to the Faculty. This service may be in the form of teaching, research, or other academic duties. There are many things to consider before starting your graduate degree, including tuition and other costs. Here is what you should know and prepare for:

- Tuition is different for thesis-based PhD or MSc/MA programs compared to course-based
- Tuition varies for Canadian citizens, permanent residents and international students
- Non-instructional fees, such as athletics, recreation and health services fees, may be levied
- Completing a practicum placement may require travel and living expenses
- Relocating to Edmonton may mean living expenses for housing, food and transportation

AREAS OF RESEARCH

The Faculty of Kinesiology, Sport, and Recreation offers a world-class research environment. Our professors, postdoctoral fellows, graduate and undergraduate students conduct research that makes valuable contributions to society – locally, provincially, and internationally.

The Faculty offers seven areas of research:

- Adapted Physical Activity
- Coaching & Sport Psychology
- Health Psychology and Behavioral Medicine
- Neuroscience and Movement
- Physiology
- Recreation, Sport & Tourism
- Sociocultural

ATHLETICS

The University of Alberta Golden Bears and Pandas Athletics is one of Canada’s premier intercollegiate programs. The University of Alberta competes in U SPORTS, and is home to 22 teams and over 500 student-athletes. The Golden Bears and Pandas compete in the sports of Basketball, Cross-Country, Curling, Football, Ice Hockey, Rugby, Soccer, Swimming, Tennis, Track & Field, Volleyball, and Wrestling.

As an integrated Faculty, students are able to have hands-on training and experiential-learning opportunities through positions with Athletics like: Student Kinesiologists, Game Day Staff, Ticketing, Events Team.

CAMPUS & COMMUNITY RECREATION

The role of Campus & Community Recreation (CCR) is to support communities [students, staff, Faculty and community members] to explore and enhance their physical, mental, emotional and spiritual well-being through physical and social activity.

From student employment opportunities to physical and social programming, CCR engages with students, helping them develop skills that will last a lifetime. Working for and/or participating in CCR program opportunities has changed the course of lives, including career choices and healthy social relationships.
