Basic Idea

1. Complete “Problem Solving, Programming, and Video Games” (PVG) MOOC
   – Self-paced
   – Coursera.org
   – You do NOT need to provide proof of completion

2. You register and complete one of the special CMPUT 174 MOOC sections
   – Section F1, MWF 1100, October 1 to October 29
   – Section K1, MWF 1100, November 2 to December 3

3. You get *3 credits. You pay *3 worth in tuition.
The Class: October Cohort

- Section F1
  - Monday, October 1 to Monday, October 29
  - Lecture is MWF 11:00
  - Lab is Wednesdays 2 to 5 PM, one of G1 or G2
  - Add/drop deadline is October 4
  - 50% Refund Deadline is October 11
  - Withdraw deadline is October 25

- In the first 2 lectures, you will write a midterm based on the PVG MOOC
- Then, you attend lectures and labs as normal
- You write the final exam October 31, 2 PM to 4 PM, during the lab time. Material from the PVG MOOC is fair game.
- If you pass, you are done, and you get *3 CMPUT 174 on your transcript

Class Notes: This special section of CMPUT 174 MOOC Hybrid will span only 4 instructional weeks instead of the normal 13 weeks. This is a new way to get 3 credits for CMPUT 174, but spend less time in a traditional lecture and lab environment. To see if this option is right for you and for details, please go to: CMPUT 174 MOOC. The final exam in this section will be Oct 31 from 2:00pm - 4:00pm. Add/Drop date - Oct 4; 50% Refund date - Oct 11; Withdrawal date - Oct 25.

Advantages for F1 and K1

• Less time in lectures and labs
• Done with course by the end of October, or end of November, respectively
• Can study at your own pace and time
Disadvantages for F1 and K1

- Must have discipline to complete the PVG MOOC before your class
- Less total contact with your instructor and fellow students
Advice for PVG MOOC

• Watch and read everything
  – Use English subtitles, transcript
  – There are faster playback rates
• Try things hands-on; pause, review
• Take the assessments seriously
• Use the interactive learning objects (ILOs)
• Just try it!
