Promoting Inclusive Play in Alberta

Do you have an interest in play and inclusion?
We would love to hear from you!

Promoting Inclusive Play in Alberta is a collaborative initiative between The Steadward Centre for Personal & Physical Achievement (TSC) and Canadian Tire Jumpstart Charities to create accessible, inclusive physical activity and play opportunities for families throughout communities in Alberta. Thanks to generous funding from the Ministry of Culture, Multiculturalism, and the Status of Women, this three year project will aim to get more Albertans of all ability levels to move more, more often.

The Canadian Tire Jumpstart playgrounds will serve as a unique platform for promoting inclusive play that will enable a novel approach to designing inclusive recreation opportunities for kids of all ability through intentional programming opportunities designed by TSC.

One of the first steps in this project is to engage with a wide range of stakeholders about some important questions that will inform our pilot play opportunities, such as:

- What does inclusive play mean to Albertans?
- What kinds of programming would you like to see more of at playgrounds?
- What kind of information, strategies, and/or resources do you need more of in your community to be able to foster or participate in inclusive play?

If you are interested in chatting with us about the project, and answering some questions about the state of inclusive play in Alberta, please contact Kassi Boyd by phone (780-492-7091) or email (boyd@ualberta.ca).
