Michael Brett may study a world so small we can’t even see it, but the impact he’s had on research and teaching at the University of Alberta has been huge. Brett is well known for his work as a pioneer in the field of nanotechnology research and his leadership in establishing the world-renowned National Institute of Nanotechnology at the University of Alberta. Brett has enjoyed many impressive accomplishments, but perhaps the most impressive is the impact he has on undergraduate and graduate students through his teaching and mentoring.

Brett’s excellence as a teacher is evident in the number of accolades and awards he has received for his teaching, the most recent being the 2007 University Cup, the highest honour the U of A can bestow on a member of its academic staff. It is granted to individuals who have achieved outstanding distinction in the areas of scholarly research, teaching and service to the University and the community at large. The University Cup is just the latest in a long line of teaching awards that Brett has received over the years. He was one of the youngest professors to win the University of Alberta’s top teaching award, the Alexander Rutherford Award for Excellence in Undergraduate Teaching in 1994, and has consistently been ranked by students as one of the Faculty of Engineering’s top instructors. In 2004 he won the Association of Professional Engineers, Geologists, and Geophysicists (APEGGA) Excellence in Education Award. Brett’s teaching philosophy has been described as “straight forward excellence.”
Upcoming Deadlines for Academic Awards

Centennial Professor – NEW
The title of Centennial Professor was created to recruit outstanding external candidates to the University of Alberta. Centennial Professor is bestowed on new members of the academy who have achieved outstanding distinction in their area of research and scholarship, teaching, and who have earned favourable regard from the community.

Any individual new to the University who is eligible to be appointed as a full-time member ranked as Professor of the Faculty (Categories 1.1 and A1.5) may be nominated for the title of Centennial Professor. The deadline to submit nominations is the first working day of May (i.e. May 1, 2008).

University Cup
The University Cup is the highest honour the University of Alberta can bestow on a member of its academic staff and is granted only to those individuals who have achieved outstanding distinction in each of the areas of scholarly research, teaching, and service to the University and the community at large.

Any full-time member of the academic teaching staff at the University of Alberta may be appointed as a University Professor. The deadline to submit nominations is the first working day of May (i.e. May 1, 2008).

Order of Canada
The Order of Canada recognizes a lifetime of outstanding achievement, dedication to the community, and service to the nation. The Order recognizes people in all sectors of Canadian society. Their contributions are varied, yet they have all enriched the lives of others and made a difference to this country.

All Canadians are eligible for the Order of Canada, with the exception of federal and provincial politicians and judges while in office. Any person or group is welcome to nominate a deserving individual as candidate for appointment to the Order of Canada.

There is no deadline for nominations as it is an on-going process.
