1d. Chair’s Remarks

Presenter(s): Michael Phair

The Chair welcomed members and guests and acknowledged all Indigenous peoples and the traditional lands on which the Board was gathered. He reminded members and guests that photography, video and live-streaming are not permitted at Board of Governors meetings.

He offered a warm welcome to the Honorable Claudette Tardiff and Kirk MacLeod, who were both appointed to the Board on January 30. The new members introduced themselves to the Board, and the Chair then led all members, presenters and guests in a round of introductions.

The Chair informed members that this would be the final Board of Governors’ meeting for the student members: Marina Banister, Students’ Union President; Mike Sandare, Undergraduate Board of Governors Representative; and Babak Soltannia, Graduate Students’ Association President. Members joined the Chair in recognizing Ms Banister, Mr Sandare, and Mr Soltannia for their service and valuable contributions to the Board over the past year. The Chair welcomed the newly-elected student members who were attending the meeting as observers: incoming Students’ Union President Reed Larsen; incoming Graduate Students’ Association President Sasha van der Klein; and incoming Undergraduate Board of Governors Representative Levi Flaman; all appointed to the Board effective May 1, pending ministerial orders.

The Chair congratulated Ray Muzyka for being named a 2018 inductee into the Junior Achievement Alberta Business Hall of Fame, and Charlene Butler for being recently named to the PhaseNyné Diversity 50 cohort of diverse candidates to impact Canada’s corporate boards and improve global competitiveness. Members joined the Chair in recognizing Dr Muzyka and Ms Butler on these recent accomplishments.

He then drew members’ attention to the book in front of them: Dr Peter MacKinnon’s University Commons Divided: Exploring Debate and Dissent on Campus, a continuation of the themes explored at the January 26 Board/General Faculties Council/Senate summit.

He reminded members of the upcoming Governors Emeritus Members (GEM) luncheon and tunnel tour on April 13, and also noted that there was still time to complete the Board Evaluation survey, thanking the members who had already completed it.

The Chair recognized the recent achievements brought about by advocacy surrounding the report of Canada’s Fundamental Science Review (commonly known as the Naylor Report).

At the request of the Chair, the Chancellor provided an update on the forthcoming Chancellor’s Forum: Pride or Prejudice?, a celebration of the University of Alberta’s contributions to the landmark Supreme Court case that advanced LGBTQ rights. The President reminded members that the Chancellor was lead counselor for this important case.

The Chair acknowledged the number of student observers attending the meeting, noting that Board members would carefully consider the motions before them.

2. Report of the President

Materials before members are contained in the official meeting file.

Presenter(s): David Turpin

Discussion:

The President provided a written report on his activities since December 15, 2017, including updates on the five strategic goals of For the Public Good: build; experience; excel; engage; and sustain. line with recommendations from the report of Canada’s Fundamental Science Review (commonly known as the Naylor Report); the impending announcement of the provincial government’s budget, and potential implications for the university; the recent discussions with government regarding funding for Peter Lougheed Hall, and the search for the next principal of the Peter Lougheed Leadership College. At the President’s request, Vice-President (University Relations) Jacqui Tam briefed the Board on recent media attention of a now-removed website for a fake university that used information from the University of Alberta’s website with the apparent intention of legitimizing a predatory journal enterprise.

The President responded to a question from a committee member regarding a communication strategy around the university’s recent positive QS (Quacquarelli Symonds Limited) World University Rankings.

2a. Board of Governors / GFC / Senate Summit Debrief

Presenter(s): David Turpin

Discussion: The President noted that the feedback from the joint Board/General Faculties Council/Senate summit was positive and asked board members to share comments with him as plans are underway to make this an annual event.

Mr Stack and Mr Friese responded to questions from board members regarding: whether the working group had solicited input from Canada’s Task Force on Cannabis Legalization and Regulation; whether the working group was considering all methods of ingesting cannabis; why students were not included on the working group and whether there would be future opportunities for student input, and whether the working group had undertaken a review of American states where cannabis has been legalized.

4a. Presentation on the University of Alberta’s Budget and Capital Plan
Materials before members are contained in the official meeting file.
Presenter(s): Steven Dew; Gitta Kulczycki; Andrew Sharman

Purpose of the Proposal: To provide Members with the rationale for proposed increases, as well as an overview of the assumptions and main components of the proposed budget.

Discussion:
Mr Tobert introduced the items, noting that the Board Finance and Property Committee recommended each of them after devoting the necessary amount of consideration and that the board is obligated to consider motions on tuition even when it is frozen.

Dr Turpin provided a brief overview of the motions before the board, noting that they align with the Sustain goal of For the Public Good, that the university is facing a substantial structural deficit and a large deferred maintenance bill, and that this is the first step toward ensuring financial sustainability. He reminded members that the university will not displace domestic students with international students, that Canada has one of the lowest rates of international tuition in the world, that the University of Alberta's international tuition is low in relation to other Canadian post-secondary institutions, and that residences are part of ancillary services which need to be self-sustaining.

Dr Dew provided an overview of the university's integrated budget planning process, explaining the process for developing the faculty and unit accountability plans, and the allocation of funds for implementation of For the Public Good initiatives, noting that the proposed increases to international tuition, residence rates and meal plan rates are all built into the overall budget. Ms Kulczycki addressed feedback received over the past month, explaining that: the proposed increases were developed based on anticipated cost increases; the university hopes to move toward a decreased reliance on the endowment and build a source for matching funds from government grants; and that increases to benefit costs, typically of four to six percent per year, will be found within faculties and units.

Dr Dew presented the proposal for the international tuition increase, noting the university is restricted from using the Campus Alberta grant for international student costs, that increases are necessary to avoid undermining the university's programs, and that, even with the proposed increase, the university's international tuition will remain below national peers. He explained that throughout the consultation process, students noted their concern about financial difficulties, and that the university has financial supports available to those that need them.

Ms Kulczycki presented the residence and dining services proposals, reviewing guiding principles and budget assumptions for each. She then presented the 2018-19 consolidated budget, noting that the university is required to prepare a balanced budget. She gave an overview of the operating budget by revenue source and expense type, and explained budget restrictions, operating fund cost pressures, and proposed budget cuts over the next three years.

Dr Dew responded to questions from board members regarding: the process for calculating international tuition increases, especially given the uncertainty around salary costs; the university's plans to remain competitive with institutions that have frozen tuition; whether an analysis of how budget reductions will affect faculties and units has been undertaken, and whether there are supports available for faculties that cannot sustain the reductions; plans to increase financial support for current students; whether there are plans to reduce expenses; and why the university is proposing 3.14 percent rather than an increase based on Consumer Price Index (CPI).

Lisa Collins, Vice-Provost and University Registrar, and Amy Dambrowitz, Assistant Dean (Administration), Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research, responded to questions from a board member regarding: the amount of funding available in international student bursaries; the percentage of that funding that is accessed each year; the proportion of international students who receive awards; the proportion of international students with no financial support at all; and what other supports are available to these students.

Mr Sharman responded to questions from a board member regarding: the anticipated amount of time for ancillary services to move out of a deficit situation; whether the anytime dining model was currently in effect, and if so, what type of feedback had been garnered from students; and clarification on the percentage of meal plan rate increases.

Mr Babak Soltannia, Graduate Students' Association (GSA) President, presented the GSA’s position on tuition, explaining that while the GSA is not opposed to an increase, they believe it should not be higher than the Consumer Price Index (CPI) and that any increases higher than that should apply only to new students. He provided an overview of the impact of financial changes on students, especially international and graduate students, who also have other financial pressures; the relationship between financial hardship and mental health; the benefits that international students provide to the university; the GSA’s desire for predictability and affordability of tuition; and trends at peer institutions regarding international fees.

Mr Robyn Paches, Students' Union (SU) Vice-President Operations and Finance, and Mr Ilya Ushakov, SU Vice-President Student Life, presented the SU's position on affordability, providing an overview of the SU Students' Council Tuition Political Policy, which calls for affordability and predictability; proposed increases to international tuition, residence rates and meal plan rates and the implications for students; Peter Lougheed Hall dining hall access statistics; and results of the SU survey on residence dining services. They informed board members of a protest that had occurred earlier in the week and distributed photos of the protest and postcards from students urging the board to vote against changes to the meal plan.

Drs Turpin and Dew responded to questions from board members regarding: administrations' philosophy on tuition predictability; the possibility of allowing students to pay tuition through an installment plan or applying the tuition increases to new students only; whether tuition increases go directly to student learning; whether unit reductions will decrease internal spending; and the possibility of not increasing international tuition but rather increasing overall student enrolment.

Ms Banister responded to a question from a board member regarding whether she had a different proposal to cover the increase in meal plan costs, and Mr Soltannia responded to a question from a member regarding the difference in cost between a CPI increase and a 3.14 percent increase.

Members discussed the conflicting needs of balancing the budget while considering students’ financial situations; the possibility of students working together with administration to develop a proposal that is satisfactory to all; board members' fiduciary responsibilities; and the possibility of a reputational risk to the university by increasing costs.

Mr Sharman responded to questions from a board member regarding: campus locations for anytime dining services; meal services across other post-secondary institutions; whether students are willing to pay more for higher-quality residences; which residences are in the most demand; and plans for increasing the quality of residences.

The President concluded the discussion by noting that, in the future, the board may want to consider higher increases to international tuition in order to create predictability, that ancillaries need to cover their own costs, and that this is the start of a process to balance the university's budget.
