Student Consultation Process Regarding Tuition, Residence and Mandatory Non-Instructional Fees

Background

The authority to set tuition including mandatory instructional and non-instructional fees is conferred upon the Board of Governors as outlined in the Post-Secondary Learning Act (PSLA), the Public Post-secondary Institutions’ Tuition Fees Regulation, the University’s Mandates and Roles Document pursuant to the Alberta Public Agencies Act, and University policy and procedure as found in the Calendar of the University.

The University is committed to working cooperatively with students regarding tuition and fee discussions, as reflected in the long standing existence of the Budget Advisory Committee, established in 2000, and the Residence Budget Advisory Committee established in 2010. Both committee structures have been effective in informing students on related budget issues, understanding the concerns and needs of the students and discussing proposed changes to tuition and fees. The effectiveness of these committees was reflected most recently in comments made by both student association Presidents at the December 2011 Board meeting when proposed tuition increases were addressed.

As of May 2000 the University has operated under the Board approved Church/Minsos motion that addresses two matters dealing with increases to Mandatory Non-Instructional Fees (MNIF). The first part of the motion approved a regular annual adjustment up to the Alberta Consumer Price Index (CPI) for all existing MNIF. The second part of the motion deals with the requirement for a student referendum if the University introduced increases to MNIF greater than CPI. (see Appendix A)

There is no provision within the PSLA, the Tuition Regulation, the University’s Mandate document or University policy and procedure that references the use of student referendum to approve student fees. To the contrary, the PSLA, Tuition Regulation, University Mandate document and University policy clearly state that the responsibility and mandate for approving mandatory university tuition and fees resides solely within the authority of the University’s Board of Governors. Consequently, the use of student referendum to approve mandatory fees that impact the University’s budget, the use of funds by the University, or the ability of the University to prepare a balanced consolidated budget would be non-compliant with provincial legislation and University policy and procedure.

On July 19th, 2011, the President of the Students’ Union (SU) wrote to the Provost requesting that the University and the Student’s Union agree on a set of principles and a framework for the development, approval and monitoring of Mandatory Non-Instructional Fees (MNIF). On November 21, 2011, the Minister of Advanced Education and Technology wrote to post-secondary institutions with a request that institutions submit to the ministry information on its formal policies regarding the establishment and/or revising of non-instructional fees, including how consultations with students and their respective representative organizations are carried out. The University is to provide this information to the Minister by February 1, 2012.

Through extensive consultations with the students, efforts were undertaken to agree on a process that would address the issues outlined in the SU President’s letter of July 19th and respond to the Minister’s request of November 21, 2011. During the consultation process, the SU argued that the Church/Minsos motion of 2000 on the indexing of mandatory non-instructional fees be expanded to also include the approval of any future MNIF that the University may propose.

At the end of the consultation process the University and the Student’s Union were opposed on one fundamental issue – the role of a student referendum in approving mandatory non-instructional fees (MNIF) relative to the primacy of the Board and its responsibility to approve tuition and fees pursuant to legislation and University policy.
The University argued that subject to the legislation and University policy no current or future board should be encumbered in fulfilling its fiduciary responsibilities in approving MNIF as part of the institutional budget by first requiring a student referendum. The students argued that even if the majority of students voted against a proposed fee increase through a referendum that this would not encumber a board’s final decision to approve a new MNIF. It is on this fundamental point that the University and the Students’ Union disagree.

Proposed Consultation Process

In response to the SU President’s and Minister’s letter the University is proposing that in addition to the existing Budget Advisory Committees on tuition and residence fees that a third committee be established to deal with MNIF. These three committees, the Tuition Budget Advisory Committee (T-BAC), the Residence Budget Advisory Committee (R-BAC), and the Mandatory Non-Instructional Fee Budget Advisory Committee (M-BAC) would represent the formal consultation process between the University and students in consulting, reviewing and discussing proposed changes to tuition, residence fees and MNIF.

Tuition Budget Advisory Committee (T-BAC)

The terms of reference for T-BAC (see Appendix B) would remain relatively unchanged. Amendments include an updating of the mandate to align with the definition of tuition as defined by the Public Post-Secondary Institutions’ Tuition Fees Regulation and updating the committee name to align with the committee mandate.

Residence Budget Advisory Committee (R-BAC)

The terms of reference for R-BAC (see Appendix C) are unchanged with the exception of editorial changes to bring consistency to the terms of reference for all three committees.

Mandatory Non-Instructional Fees Budget Advisory Committee (M-BAC)

This new committee (see Appendix D) will address the majority of points raised in the SU President’s letter of July, 2012 regarding MNIF. This committee would be responsible for consulting, reviewing, considering and discussing any University proposal to establish a new MNIF or any proposal to increase existing MNIF at a rate above the Alberta CPI. To achieve enhanced transparency regarding the revenue collected from MNIF, the committee would receive and review a newly developed MNIF annual report that would include total annual revenue collected by MNIF type, the published budgets of the units supported by MNIF revenue, and examples of the services provided by those units supported by MNIF revenue.

Church/Minsos Motion

In addition to the University’s enhancements to the student consultation process, the University is proposing that the Church/Minsos motion of 2000 be rescinded in relation to that section of the motion that requires a student referendum for proposed increases to MNIF above CPI. This is being recommended as the PSLA, University Mandate document and University policy and procedure clearly state that the responsibility and mandate for approving mandatory university tuition and fees resides solely within the authority of the University’s Board of Governors. Requiring any increase in existing MNIF in excess of the CPI to be approved through student referendum is inconsistent with both government legislation and University policy.
Conclusion

The University has a long established commitment to openness and transparency with students regarding the establishment of the University’s academic priorities, tuition and fees and the University’s operating budget. The existing structure and mandate of T-BAC and R-BAC and the addition of M-BAC not only meets but exceeds the requirements for student consultation on tuition as outlined in the Public Post-Secondary Institutions’ Tuition Fees Regulations. The proposed amendments before the Board enable the University to ensure that Board motions are in compliance with provincial legislation and University policy.
Indexing of Mandatory Non-Instructional Fees -- Motion:

Moved by Mr. Minsos and seconded by Ms. Church: “that the Board of Governors approve the proposal that, effective September 1, 2000, there will be a regular annual adjustment to the Mandatory Non-Instructional Fees (MNIF) [i.e.: the University Health Services Fee; the Registration and Transcript Fee; the Student Services Fee; and the Athletics and Recreation Fee.] This increase will be equal to 0% or the Alberta Consumer Price Index (CPI) in the previous year, whichever is greater.

Any request for an extraordinary increase in the MNIF, beyond the Alberta CPI, will be presented to the Council of Students’ Union and the Graduate Students’ Council. Should the Councils approve the request, the new fee will be incorporated into the normal budget process. Should either the Students’ Union Council or the Graduate Students’ Council reject the request for an extraordinary fee increase, the proposal may be withdrawn or go forward to a student referendum during the next available election process. Approval would require a majority (50% + 1) of the votes cast in the two elections combined and the subsequent approval of the Board of Governors.

In the event of a surplus of revenue over expenditure exceeding 10% in any of the four areas, the issue will be brought to the attention of the Academic Planning Committee. At the recommendation of the Academic Planning Committee to the Administration, an appropriate portion of the surplus funds will be applied to scholarships and/or student financial aid or debt reduction of the unit in question.”
