He also indicated that room orientation can be arranged through the CTL website. In relation to a question regarding the cost of the classroom, Dr Graves noted that it cost $130,000. He explained that the classroom can hold 42 students. As for the underutilization of TLEF, Dr Graves commented that perhaps teaching staff are unaware of the program. A member reported that CTL had been helpful in solving an issue and thanked Dr Graves.

6. CLE Subcommittee on Fostering Pedagogy of Technology: Update

There were no documents.

Presenter: John Boeglin, Chair, GFC CLE Subcommittee on Fostering Pedagogy of Technology

Discussion:
Dr Boeglin reported that the surveys generated a large amount of data and that progress has been made in providing a narrative alongside the charts and tables. He noted that the challenge remains piecing together the big picture of all of the results, and that his goal is to do so by the end of this term.

7. Renewal of CLE Possible Agenda Items for Consideration

Materials before members are contained in official meeting file.

Presenter: Gerald Beasley, Vice-Provost and Chief Librarian and Acting Chair, GFC CLE

Discussion:
The Acting Chair pointed out the document entitled “Possible Agenda Items for Consideration” on the University Governance website, and recommended that members discuss an updated work plan surrounding the teaching and learning environment. He encouraged members to make suggestions for an updated list.

During the discussion in regards to potential agenda items, members provided the following suggestions:

- E-USRI (electronic Universal Student Ratings of Instruction): An update and perspectives from academic staff and students
- GFC-mandated USRI questions – are they still applicable?
- The impact of technology on teaching and learning
- Review of wireless service and infrastructure overall at the University of Alberta, in support of instructional technology
• Alternative delivery of teaching materials
• Learning outcomes
• Quality of graduate education supervision (perhaps drafting regulations for supervisors)
• Copyright
• The new Research and Collection Resource Facility (RCRF) planned for South Campus, in relation to learning spaces
• Inclusive classrooms (supportive ways to maximize learning for all students)
• Cheating and plagiarism detection systems
• Mandatory physical characteristics of classrooms at the University of Alberta
• The possibility of creating a teaching tenure stream
• Standards and expectations of the learning environment at the University of Alberta
• Input from the Faculty of Native Studies on teaching and learning

Dr Forgie suggested that members rank this list of suggestions before drafting the work plan.

Members, during the discussion in relation to this list, expressed several comments and questions. On the issue of how these topics could be developed into proposals, the Acting Chair noted that some topics require the work of a subcommittee, while others can be properly addressed through normal Committee deliberation. He added, as well, that assigning proper leads to tackle some of these topics could be determined after ranking occurs. Regarding the mandate of the Committee, the Acting Chair clarified that GFC CLE has been tasked to make recommendations concerning policy matters with respect to the promotion of the optimal learning environment at the University. Ms Patrick reported that substantial work has already been conducted surrounding at least eight of these topics from various Subcommittees of CLE and other GFC Standing Committees, and that in many cases, projects would not need to be started at square one. She noted that the reports of these bodies could be disseminated to members. Members discussed ways to maximize the impact of any reports generated by the Committee.

The Acting Chair thanked members for their suggestions and stated that further ideas are welcome at any time.
